FIREMEN DISPLAY DARING AT SCHOOL

Net Saves Necks

Life-saving, fire-fighting and fire-prevention methods were demonstrated to pupils of the Sheridan-street school yesterday afternoon by a detail from the fire department headed by Fire Chief Scott at the request of Superintendent of Schools Dorsey.

Thrills in the way of leaps from the school building, scaling of walls and simulating a burning building from which was carried a victim of the make-believe flames, were supplied the children by the firemen. The feats were preceded by talks of fire prevention by Superintendent Dorsey and Chief Scott.

Deputy Chief of Police Lyons accompanied the fire department detail to the school and made a short talk on the relations of the police with school children.

LOS ANGELES FILM CROWN UNMENACED

Harold Lloyd Executive Sees No Impending Peril in Talking Pictures

"Los Angeles will continue to furnish the vast majority of motion-picture entertainment to the world under the new talking-picture order, just as it has during the silent drama era," declared William R. Fraser, general manager of the Harold Lloyd Corporation, who, accompanied by Mrs. Fraser, yesterday returned from New York after a six weeks' business trip.

"Producers realize this city is still the logical place for picture production, with its climatic and scenic facilities unchallenged. Picture production is certain to be speeded up just as fast as the stages here can be equipped with sound facilities and this is being rapidly accomplished.

"There will be few revolutionary changes, other than in the mechanics of picture production and exhibition, occasioned by the hold talking pictures have gained on the American theater-going public. Most of the prominent players on the screen today will maintain their popularity, and in many instances will increase it in talking pictures. Their personalities have been so thoroughly sold that their places cannot be usurped by recruits.

"Such rapid progress is being made by the producers of talking picture equipment that it will be a matter of a comparatively short time before all the leading theaters of this country will be equipped for sound projection.

"Meanwhile, however, good silent pictures are holding their own in box-office figures, and will continue doing so."

Builders Take Rain Insurance

Against the chances of having rains between now and the 28th inst., when the $10,000,000 Fox-Movietone studio at Fox Hills is scheduled to be completed and dedicated, the constructors have insured themselves against such an eventuality.

According to an agreement between Fox Film Corporation and H. Keith Weeks, superintendent of construction, the latter must finish the entire job three days prior to the dedication ceremonies. Therefore the constructor takes this means of protecting himself and providing himself with insurance funds to double his working force in case he is held up temporarily.

VIKINGS TRIM ANTARCTIC SAIL

Explorer Byrd's Party Will Begin Voyage Today

Intrepid Group Starting for Uncharted Perils

Expedition Thrusts at Last Outpost of Globe

Science's thrust at the last frontier—the Antarctic—begins this evening at Los Angeles Harbor, when Commander Richard E. Byrd and fourteen modern crusaders sail on the Norwegian whaler C. A. Larsen on the first leg of their voyage to the Ross Quadrant—which bleak expanse for the next two years will be the scene of their endeavors.

The C. A. Larsen arrived yesterday from Norfolk and immediately began loading the 10,000 tons of whaling and explorers' supplies to equip the two expeditions, that of the Byrd party and the Ross Sea Whaling Company, of which the 18,000-ton factory ship is the chief unit. At daylight she halted in the roadstead to temporarily unload a consignment of explosives and then went to the West Basin terminal of the Western Refining Company, where a world's record bunker cargo of 47,500 barrels of fuel oil is being put aboard. There will also be loaded before sailing seventy-five head of sheep and several milch cows for the whalers and a large consignment of last-minute stores for the Byrd expedition. She had already loaded at Norfolk the expedition's four airplanes and many tons of other stores, such as airplane skiis, dog and Eskimo biscuits, snowshoes, dog sleds and foodstuffs.

SAILS AT FLOOD TIDE

She will sail on flood tide at 5 p.m. today. In addition to Commander Byrd, other members of the party include the following men, who made the trip from Norfolk: Harold I. June, Bernt S. Balchen and Dean C. Smith, all air pilots; E. J. Demas, K. F. Bubier and Jeremiah De Cecca, air mechanics, and Martin Ronne, sailmaker; and the following men, who came here overland: Richard J. Brophy, business manager; Ralph Shropshire, hydrographer; Capt. A. S. Parker, U.S.M.C., air pilot; Benjamin Roth, air mechanic; Charles Lofgren, secretary and personnel manager; Russell Owen, correspondent for The Times and New York Times, which newspapers will exclusively publish in their areas dispatches from the expedition, and William Vanderveer, photographer.

WIFE SHOWS COURAGE

Commander Byrd spent his last day on American soil with his wife, before leaving on the great adventure. They spent part of the day taking an automobile ride. Mrs. Byrd has established a reputation for maintaining her poise even in the face of last moments with her husband prior to his stepping into hazardous ventures such as his polar flight, his trans-Atlantic flight and the present one.

Other members of the Byrd party spent their last day in the city taking care of the final details of the trip. Some of them went to the theater in the evening.

Under the plans, the majority of the party will leave for the harbor at 11 o'clock this morning, taking with them personal effects and baggage. Commander Byrd and the others will leave about 1 o'clock, and, upon arrival at Wilmington, will immediately go aboard the whaler Larsen. A number of friends and well-wishers are expected to be aboard to bid the adventurers bon voyage.

ROBINSON CONTRADICTS SMITH ON BOULDER DAM

Vice-Presidential Candidate Says Democratic Administration Would "Get Action"

BY KYLE D. PALMER

Bringing the Democratic fight for the Presidency into the home territory of Herbert Hoover, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic nominee for Vice-President, last night in Philharmonic Auditorium launched an energetic attack upon Hoover, lauded Gov. Smith as a champion of progressive legislation and raised local Democratic hopes and enthusiasm to high intensity.

The Democratic leader's Los Angeles address was devoted chiefly to a discussion of proposed Colorado River legislation in which he attempted to reconcile the contradictory references to river development made by Democracy's Presidential nominee. In so doing Senator Robinson himself contradicted Smith's declaration on the subject in his acceptance speech.

Senator Robinson, a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, made an energetic plea for religious tolerance in the Presidential campaign, his assertion that Gov. Smith's membership in the Catholic Church would have no influence on Smith's official acts if elected President eliciting prolonged cheers. He did not refer to the New York Governor's views on prohibition.

CONTRADICTS SMITH

Choosing the Denver address of Smith on the Colorado as the theme for his own comments, Senator Robinson asserted that Republican effort to reach a solution of the problem has proven fruitless after seven years of conferences, negotiations and investigation by Congress, and he declared that Democratic success in November would result in action on Boulder Dam.

This is in direct opposition to the first formal commitment on the Colorado issue made by Smith in his acceptance speech, when he said concerning proposed development of the river: "The duty of the Federal government is confined to navigation." Senator Robinson made no reference to this statement.

CROWD ENTHUSIASTIC

More than 3500 enthusiastic men and women were jammed into the auditorium and a crowd almost equal in size and fully as enthusiastic was gathered outside the build-

DALTON DAM LANDSLIDE KILLS TWO

Shovel Engineer and Aide Buried by Tons of Earth After Race With Death

Two men were killed yesterday when a giant landslide buried them under tons of rock and earth at the Big Dalton county flood-control dam being constructed in Big Dalton Canyon, five miles northeast of Glendora. The dead are Harold Pearson, steam-shovel operator, whose address is given as Glendora, and J. M. Perkins, 33 years of age, helper on the steam shovel, who resided in Azusa.

The men were operating the steam shovel on a new road on the hillside above the dam site. They had begun some excavation work preparatory to arranging the ground for the last abutment on the new dam. As a matter of precaution laborers had worked for days taking off a portion of the top of the hill alongside which the shovel was to begin work. According to eye-witnesses, the steam shovel had just been put to work when directly above them the side of the hill started to move.

Above the roar of the cracking rock, warning cries of fellow-workmen were heard. The two men on the shovel, the only ones in the path of the slide, leaped to the ground. There was no time for them to run around the slide to safety. Pearson ran ahead of it a few feet until he came to the edge of a drop-off, where he fell and slid down fifty feet into an excavation alongside a newly erected abutment. Tons of rock poured down and buried him.

Perkins hesitated a moment, but before he could move the slide was on him. It is estimated 500 cubic yards of earth and rock came down, and when the great cloud of dust cleared there was no sign of men or steam shovel. Perkins's body later was recovered from under the steam shovel.

Crews of workmen with shovels, picks and crowbars were hurriedly assembled by Ben Wells, foreman for the H. W. Rohl Company, builders of the dam, and Supervising Engineer Metcalf, for the county. At 10 o'clock, an hour after the slide occurred, Pearson's body was recovered.

An inhalator was brought in by the Glendora fire department, and the volunteer rescue squad under Chief Midkiff worked over the unconscious form of Pearson. County Fire Warden Turner rushed the rescue wagon and crew from Alta-

WOMEN FOR JUDGE DORAN

Leaders in Civic Affairs Declare Public Interest Requires His Re-election

With the slogan "Judge Doran must not be punished because he punished Albert Marco," a large number of women who are leaders in civic affairs and club work, have indorsed the candidacy of Judge William C. Doran for re-election to the Superior Court at the coming November election. They have registered at the Doran campaign headquarters as supporters of Judge Doran, and they are urging other women to support him.

The cause of civic righteousness is at stake in the campaign for Judge Doran's re-election, they say, and from women's clubs, the ranks of women attorneys and the circles of home women, the demand is being registered for a decisive victory at the polls because, the women declare, "the man who was fearless enough, honest enough and able enough to handle the trial of the Marco case as Judge Doran did, must not be defeated. He must be retained."

Among the well-known women who are supporting Judge Doran are: Mrs. John D. Fredericks, Mrs. George Herbert Clark, Mrs. C. C. Ashley, Mrs. Grantland S. Long, Mrs. Edna Covert Plummer, Mrs. P. K. Keeler, Mrs. Charles F. Gray, Mrs. E. C. Bellows, Mrs. Mae Carvell, Mrs. Frank Gibson, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Ashman of Inglewood, Mrs. T. A. Berkebile of Monterey Park, Constance Leitch, Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman, Mrs. C. M. McRoberts, Ella M. F. Atchley, Mrs. Allie Simmons Wheeler, Mrs. F. E. Geibel of Pasadena, Miss Elizabeth Kenney, Mrs. Kemper B. Campbell, Mrs. Lydia Crossley, Miss Florence M. Bischoff, Mrs. Ellen French Aldrich, Mrs. Arthur C. Wier, Miss Peggy Halloran, Mrs. J. B. Green, Mrs. Harriett Works, Mrs. May P. Benedict, Mrs. Raymond Bradford, Mrs. Frank Spring, Mrs. Rose Wiatt, Dr. Mae Parsons.

While the cause of civic righteousness as affected by the Marco case is declared by the women to be the vital issue of the campaign, they also point out that Judge Doran's previous record justifies his retention on the bench. They declare that the judiciary as a whole will watch with great interest the action of the voters and that, not only in recognition of Judge Doran's signal services in the Marco case, but as an inspiration for courage to other judges, champions of civic good must see that a large vote is cast for Judge Doran on election day.

Y.W.C.A. SPORTS CLUB PROVES ATTRACTION

Fifty-seven girls already have registered for the special sports club which was organized last week by the Young Women's Christian Association. Swimming proved to be the most popular, with a registration of forty-eight. Twenty-eight girls signed up for skating, sixteen for tennis and fourteen for horseback riding. So many members of the special sports club expressed a desire for dancing that it, too, has been added to the list.

Federal Aid for Games Proposed

Federal aid for the Olympic Games in California in 1932 will be sought once the State appropriation voted by the Legislature is ratified at the November election. This was learned yesterday from officials of the California Tenth Olympiad Association.

It was pointed out that national assistance in some form can be much more gracefully asked after the voters of the State have backed up the action of their legislators with "Yes" votes for Proposition No. 2 thereby making the State appropriation of $1,000,000 available.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THIS pleasant little difference of opinion as to the next President of the United States . . .

It has now arrived at the forged-letter stage. There still remains about a month of time in which to add other fancy trimmings of malice and bitterness.

WARS FOR WOMEN

The cable dispatches do not give the name of the prize moron who asked Lady Astor if wars are not caused by the effort of men to provide women with comforts . . . ma needs a facial and a permanent wave; so father goes out and starts a world war . . .

The causes of war are one thing; the occasions of war another. The World War was caused because Russia was trying to extend her influence southwest through the Balkans, while Germany was pressing southeast toward the Persian Gulf; and each effort was dangerous to England. The occasion of the war was a Serbian murder.

GENE TRAINS 'EM

When Gene Tunney comes home to America he will probably bring a captive Italian newspaper reporter as light and inspiration to the hard-boiled American kind. Gene informed the Italian news scouts that he did not want any publicity; so no paper published a line.

MEDIOCRE MEN

Senator Robinson—he who yearns to be Vice-President—says the Republicans are just mediocre men. Yes, yes; the brilliant genius of the Democratic orators and statesmen always leaves the United States Treasury looking like a bankrupt Chinese laundry; then the poor old mediocre plugs of the Republican party have to shoulder the pick and shovel and build up the bank account again. Every Democratic administration is a sort of jag on the part of Uncle Sam.

BARE SHINS

A San Leandro bachelors' club wants the State Legislature to order the girls to put their stockings on again—protection for bachelors. Protection, no doubt, for what remains of their esthetics. A bachelor has a right to his illusions; and bare shins with hairs, scars, pimples and freckles are perfectly devastating in their effect upon illusions.

WHY, MR. NEWTON!

One of the important developments of our new life of the air has been to upset Mr. Newton's celebrated law of gravitation. Aviators tell me that actual experience in falling through the air shows that Mr. Newton was talking through his hat when he laid down the dictum as to the rate of speed at which a falling body descends. If he was wrong in that, perhaps he was wrong as to the whole theory. Maybe an apple doesn't always fall down off a tree. I shall watch anxiously to see if an occasional one does not go up instead.

THE KING QUITS

The King of Italy is to abdicate and the throne will pass from his immediate family. Probably no monarch has surrendered a thankless job with greater resignation. With all the power in the hands of Mussolini, Victor Emanuel has held a singularly difficult position with dignity and honor. He is beloved of his people. His lovely daughters will doubtless be relieved that they no longer have to remain in the showcase for possible diplomatic marriages—with this young sprig of royalty and that.

Wilshire Boulevard Wins Large New Desmond's Store Building

Following closely the opening of an ultramodern shop on West Seventh street, comes the announcement by Ralph R. Huesman, president of Desmond's, of another Desmond store to be built in the Wilshire district. It will be known as the Wilshire-Hancock Park store, and will be located at the southwest corner of Wilshire Boulevard and Dunsmuir avenue, near La Brea.

"We believe this new location to be ideal," said Mr. Huesman, in speaking of the proposed Wilshire-Hancock Park unit. "It was chosen only after more than a year's exhaustive study of the outlying territory, and we believe Wilshire west of La Brea offers us greater opportunities to serve western Los Angeles than does any other section.

"Extensive development is planned for this region and we think it will become eventually the hub of population for outer Los Angeles. We will be but a few minutes from Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Western avenue, with the Pico and West Adams districts only ten minutes by motor.

"We intend this new branch of the Desmond institution to be thoroughly modern in every respect," continued Mr. Huesman, "incorporating in it the newest merchandising and artistic ideas available. It will serve women and boys particularly, but will provide wearables for men, too, much in the manner of our main store on Broadway."

This store will be housed within a building to be known as Wilshire Tower, having a frontage of an entire block. A limit-height tower, visible for miles around, will surmount the building and in the center will be a huge motor court. Desmond's will occupy one corner of the building on a sixty-foot frontage, both first and second floors. The remainder of the first two floors intended for fine retail stores, while the tower rooms will be designed for studios and professional purposes.

A feature of the new store, Mr. Huesman pointed out, is the recognition given the automobile as a factor in present-day shopping. The large center court is capable of accommodating many cars. In addition, adjoining property has been procured and it will be reserved permanently for parking.

Both store and offices will be accessible readily from the center court, and it is planned to make the court entrances fully as attractive as those at the front of the building.

Ground for Wilshire Tower will be broken in a few days, according to the announcement by Mr. Huesman, and the store is expected to be opened for business February 1, next. The deal was handled through the offices of A. W. Ross. Gilbert, Stanley, Underwood & Co. are the architects.

ing in Fifth street to hear the speaker's remarks delivered by electrical amplifiers.

There were boos and laughs and groans for "Republican inquities; jeers for Hoover and cheers for Smith. Senator Robinson pledged his party to respect the "beneficial effects" of the Republican tariff system and, seemingly carried away by the thunderous applause that greeted the most commonplace denunciation of the Republican ticket, indulged in a succession of derisive references to Hoover and the Republican nominee's campaign utterances.

He pictured Gov. Smith not as the creature and product of Tammany Hall, but as the boss of that organization, and asserted that the Smith regime in New York has benefited all elements of the State's population.

Senator Robinson closed his address by sharply criticising ministers of the gospel who use their pulpits for the purpose of discussing politics. He departed frequently from his prepared address, adhering to it carefully, however, in discussing the Swing-Johnson bill and the Colorado River situation.

Following the address the candidate and his party left for San Francisco, where he will speak today. During his twelve-hour visit here Senator Robinson spoke three times, conferred with local party leaders, greeted many supporters and headed a parade of decorated automobiles through the city. A good-sized crowd greeted the arrival of his two special cars at the Arcade station yesterday morning.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Following is the text of Senator Robinson's speech last night:

Robinson's set speech last night:

Few subjects, if any, pertaining to national legislation, have aroused, more interest or caused more discussion in Southern California than the proposal to construct Boulder Canyon dam for the development of the Colorado River. Bills pertaining to the subject have been pending since April 12, 1921.

During the last session of Congress the Swing-Johnson bill, introduced in its original form April 25, 1922, passed the House of Representatives and was considered for a long time by the Senate. Senator Pittman of Nevada had secured the adoption by the Senate Committee of Amendments allowing the States of Arizona, California and Nevada each to acquire a portion of the power developed at Boulder Canyon dam, and to receive a share of the net receipts after the payment of all charges due the government. The bill went over for the session, no action being taken save the appointment of a board of engineers to make a study of the problem and submit a report to the Congress, when it meets on the first Monday in December, 1928.

GREAT NATURAL RESOURCE

The development of the Colorado River as one of our great natural resources addresses itself to the sympathetic consideration of all progressive citizens. Inasmuch as several States are within the Colorado basin, conflicting claims of interest have been asserted. Undoubtedly, if a satisfactory agreement or arrangement should be negotiated among the States interested in the development, this would facilitate legislation and relieve the subject of many embarrassments and of much opposition.

It is expected that the board of engineers, constituted during the last session of Congress and directed to report December 1, 1928, will submit its findings early during the next session of Congress. Should it recommend procedure designed and calculated to safeguard the reasonable demands of the States, and of the general public, with particular regard for public control of rates and distribution, no reason presents itself to me for the prolongation of the controversy.

DEMOCRATIC POLICY

The Democratic party has defined a policy touching the subject of water power in the following language:

"The Federal government and State governments, respectively, now have absolute and exclusive sovereignty and control over numerous water powers, which constitute one of the greatest assets of the nation. This sovereign title and control must be reserved respectively in the States and Federal government, to the end that the people may be protected against exploitation of this great resource, and that water powers may be expeditiously developed under such regulations as will insure to the people reasonable rates and equitable distribution."

The sole purpose of the policy proposed in the Democratic platform is to preserve and safeguard the rights of the public. Surely no fair-minded citizen can object to this. Good faith efforts to prevent monopoly and extortion in connection with utilities interfere with no vested right; take nothing from any one to which he is entitled in justice and sound principle.

Gov. Smith, in his speech at Denver, made clear his interpretation of this provision of the platform. No doubt exists in the mind of any one who read or heard his address as to what he believes should be done. The title and control of the site and the works is to be retained in the public to assure reasonable rates and equitable distribution.

HOOVER QUOTED

Mr. Hoover has not defined his general way in his acceptance subject. He mentioned it in an address delivered in this city, and referred to water power only in a general way in his his acceptance speech and in his discourse at Elizabethton. The statement by Mr. Hoover in his speech in Los Angeles:

"I am in favor of the highest dam in Boulder Canyon that the engineers will recommend," may have more meaning than the express language implies. It certainly does not tend to clear any of the difficulties which have prevented and retarded the legislation necessary to authorization for the construction of the dam. Surely the omission was not due to inability on the part of Mr. Hoover to find the words necessary to express himself. Various interpretations have been given his language, and this would not have occurred if he had chosen to speak in full frankness.

The discussion of water power in the acceptance speech of the Republican candidate for President was so general that it affords no guide to his opinion respecting what should be the form and substance of legislation for Boulder Canyon dam. The same may be said of Mr. Hoover's address at Elizabethton, in which only evasive and general terms are employed. Mr. Hoover's only specific mention of Boulder Canyon dam was at Los Angeles, August 17, 1928. He favored a high dam—the highest that the engineers will recommend, but he said nothing about the problems connected with the proposed legislation.

This matter illustrates the difference between the Democratic candidate for President and the Republican nominee. Gov. Smith takes the public into his confidence, explains his views and defines his position without apology or evasion.

Mr. Hoover covers up his meaning in many words and remains perfectly complacent while the public debates what his real opinion may be.

"TO SERVE PUBLIC"

The undertaking of the Democratic party is to serve the public, not the power trust.

In his speech at Denver Gov. Smith said:

"What the people want is a dam across the Colorado River, not a controversy." And further that:

"If the Democratic party is put in power, I think I will be able to show you the men working on the dam."

The spirit of the Democratic nominee for President is to tackle a job and get it done. The Republican party has been in control of the government machinery ever since this controversy has been in progress, for the last seven years. Mr. Hoover, himself, has been the chairman of the Federal Colorado River Commission.

I join in the promise of the Democratic nominee for President that if the Democratic party wins in November, you may expect prompt action on Boulder dam.

Senator's Wife Campaigns Here

Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson

PARTY WOMEN HONOR GUEST

Feminine Democracy Entertains for One Day Vice-Presidential Nominee's Wife

Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson, wife of the Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee, was a guest in Los Angeles for the day yesterday, with Democratic leaders of the fair sex acting as her hostesses and guides throughout her stay.

When Mrs. Robinson arrived in the morning she was met by a delegation of women from the Women's Smith-Robinson Club of Southern California, whose guest she was later at the Biltmore for luncheon. Following luncheon, a reception was held in the foyer of the ballroom where approximately 1000 women came to greet Mrs. Robinson.

HONOR GUEST'S TALK

After the reception the assemblage adjourned to the ballroom for a meeting of the Women's Smith-Robinson Club, at which Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, president, served as chairman. Mrs. Robinson was introduced and spoke briefly on her own and Senator Robinson's delight in Southern California. She then told of a visit she had paid to the Al Smith household and said that anyone would be proud to know the Smiths, as she found them in their home. Mrs. Smith, she said, is a home-maker with every qualification which should make her an ideal mistress of the White House.

Mrs. Robinson, who is slender and of medium height, was modishly gowned in black and her simplicity, sincerity and quiet poise brought enthusiastic response from her audiches.

The chief speaker at the meeting was Edwards Davis, stage and screen actor and founder of the 233 Club. His talk dealt with "Mint, Rue and Cummin," in their relation to the theological aspects of the campaign; a study in percentages as they affect the effort to make 1 1-2 per cent equal a desired result, the necessity of the conservation of water because of prohibition possibilities and a little dirt to represent the issue of the farmers.

"SUNSHINE" TENDERED

After Mrs. Robinson had been presented with what was termed a little California sunshine in the shape of a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums by the Los Angeles-For-Al Women's Club, she was taken on a motor trip to points of interest in the city. She left for San Francisco later in the evening.

Among those who lunched with Mrs. Robinson and assisted at the reception were Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, Mrs. J. Lawrence Banks, Miss Mary E. Foy, Mrs. J. Albert Potter, Miss Mary Workman, Mrs. James F. Devine, Mrs. James A. Reed, Mrs. Abie C. Kraft, Mrs. Marie A. Larkey, Orfa J. Shontz, Miss Jane Humphreys, Mrs. Isadore B. Dockweiler, Mrs. Mary Holland Kinkaid, Mrs. Letitia Lytle, Dr. Elizabeth Sullivan, Mrs. Thomas L. Loy, Mrs. Michael Francis Regan, Mrs. W. K. Parkinson, Mrs. J. Henry Stewart, Mrs. Clifford Wright and Mrs. C. F. Morrisson.

arrested with Schneiderman. He gave the name of Ben Zimmer. He was fined and placed in jail. Two girls, 14 and 15 years of age, were said by the officers to have been helping distribute the handbills. They were taken into court and turned over to their parents. Both girls gave fictitious names.

Erenberg was located through the Schneiderman connections, Hynes said. Erenberg said he was staying in the home of his sister, Mrs. Clara Alprin. When he worked he was engaged as a mechanic in a local stove factory and he is a member in good standing of the local machinists' union, A. F. of L., Hynes said.

Sanger Slayer's Death Sentence Appeal Argued

The State Supreme Court, sitting en banc here, yesterday heard the appeal of Allen Ellis, 18-year-old Sanger youth, from the death penalty imposed upon him for the murder of Francis O. Welsert in Fresno on June 13 last.

William A. White, attorney for Ellis, in argument to the court asserted that the jury was misdirected by the trial judge on the question involving the youth's age.

After hearing the argument the court gave the Attorney-General ten days to file an answering brief, the case then to be submitted.

The move of defense counsel for five of the six convicts condemned to death for the murder of George Baker, convict, during the Folsom prison riots, failed yesterday.

Defense Attorney J. L. Henderson filed a motion to have the proceedings of their first trial incorporated in later testimony submitted in support of their appeal. The motion was denied.

The six convicts are Anthony Brown, James H. Gregg, Roy E. Stokes, Eugene Crosby, Walter E. Burke and Albert M. Stewart. They originally were sentenced to hang on August 17.

APPROPRIATION ASKED

The Building and Safety Commission has asked the City Council for an appropriation of $140 for the purpose of installing a safety traffice "blinker" at the intersection of Sixty-seventh street and Mesa Drive.

ROBINSON HITS AT REPUBLICANS

Candidate Speaks at Venice and Sawtelle

Attacks "Whisperers" and Religious Issue

Predicts Democrats Will Carry California

In addition to his address on Boulder Dam last night at Philharmonic Auditorium, which was his principal appearance, Senator Robinson, Democratic candidate for Vice-President spoke to 300 veterans in the Memorial Hall at Sawtelle and to 3000 people congregated on the sands at Venice yesterday.

SAWTELLE SPEECH

At Sawtelle he attacked the Republican administration for its handling of veterans' affairs, referred to President Coolidge's veto of the adjusted compensation bill and to the Forbes scandal in the Veterans' Bureau. He said that while the Republican national administration was limiting hospital facilities on the grounds of economy, Gov. Smith was pressing through the New York Legislature a $48,000,000 bonus bill and a $3,000,000 hospital bill. He pledged his ticket, if elected, to an honest administration and adequate facilities.

As if in answer to his speech, Senator Robinson immediately thereafter was driven through the grounds of the Veterans' Home at Sawtelle, where magnificent new hospitals and barracks, either recently completed or under construction, are on every hand.

A temporary stand, with amplifiers, was arranged on the sands near Windward avenue, Venice, and Senator Robinson spoke in the open air. His remarks were extemporaneous and he did not refer to the issues of the campaign, limiting himself to the "whispering" element of the campaign and the religious situation.

"WILL CARRY CALIFORNIA"

He started out by saying he believed the Democrats will carry California.

He said that it was being whispered that the Smiths were not "big enough social swells to live in the White House."

"Well," he concluded, "we plain people outnumber the swells ten to one and so on election day let's teach them a lesson."

He said Mrs. Smith is a loving mother and a fond wife, that she hasn't spent her time in social activities but she has made her home a model for those women who whisper that she hasn't the social accomplishments to direct the White House. She would grace the White House as well as she graces all other places where she appears, he stated.

He then devoted several minutes to William Allen White, the Kansas editor, whom he called "Little Willie White." He denied that White had been able to prove his case that Smith was controlled by Tammany.

AS TO RELIGION

Senator Robinson next took up the subject of Gov. Smith's religion, saying: There is an attempt to penalize him because of his religion, which is opposed to the fundamentals of the Constitution. He said he refused to call any man a Christian who carries malice in his heart. Gov. Smith's record, he declared, has demonstrated he is not dominated by the Catholic church any more than the Senator is dominated by the Methodist church, of which he is a member. These same denunciations were heaped on Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln and Wilson, he said.

"Such slander has no place in a Presidential campaign," said the Senator. "Let us keep our politics exalted. Smith is loyal to the plain people, which explains why such strenuous efforts are being made to defeat him."

He appealed to his hearers to strip themselves of prejudice and vote upon the issues of the campaign.

Prior to the Senator's appearance at Venice, a number of speakers under the leadership of Patrick J. Cooney, vice-chairman of the speakers' bureau, kept the crowd entertained with Democratic arguments.

Motorcycle Officers Baiser and Emsley, who acted as the Senator's escort, received his thanks for the remarkable work they did in getting his party through the dense traffic of the city streets and cutting down the time necessarily spent in traveling from Los Angeles to Sawtelle and Venice.

GREETED AT STATION

Mayor Cryer, Chief of Police Davis, Councilman Hall, a band, a motorcycle escort and a crowd of 500 enthusiastic committeemen and rank-and-file Democrats met the Robinson special cars when they arrived yesterday morning at Central Station.

Senator Robinson appeared on the observation platform of his private car with Mrs. Robinson and his personal party and waved greetings to the welcomers. He posed for pictures with Mayor Cryer and made a short address, in which he said the Democratic party was "winning everywhere." The band played "The Sidewalks of New York" and hats were flourished. A bouquet of California flowers was presented to Mrs. Robinson.

A parade of decorated automobiles was formed and with the motorcycle escort the nominee's party proceeded up Fifth street to the Biltmore, where his headquarters were maintained during his Los Angeles visit.

Hellman Rallies After Operation

Improvement in the condition of Marco Hellman, vice-president of the Merchants' Trust and Savings Bank, who underwent an abdominal operation Monday morning, was reported yesterday by Dr. Maurice Kahn.

The operation was not a serious one, Dr. Kahn stated, and the banker is expected to be removed to his home from the Good Samaritan Hospital in about two weeks.

WOMAN'S DEATH LAID TO LIQUOR

Autopsy to Determine if Rum Held Poison

Empty Bottles Found Where Victim Resided

Acquaintances Say She Had Been Drinking

An autopsy will be performed today by County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner to determine de cause of death of Mrs. Frances Hitchcock, 26 years of age, believed by police to have been a victim of poison bootleg liquor.

Mrs. Hitchcock died in a police ambulance yesterday afternoon while she was being transferred to the General Hospital from the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. At the latter institution Police Surgeon Saverien stated that he believed the woman to be a victim of alcoholic poisoning.

HALF-BLIND WHEN FOUND

Mrs. Hitchcock was found moaning and half-blind in her room at a Japanese rooming-house at 333 East Fourth street by other roomers shortly before noon, police reported. Police were notified of her condition and a few minutes later she was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Later Detective Lieutenant Corsini of the police homicide squad learned that her husband, D. L. Hitchcock, is in Calexico, where he is working as a steam-shovel operator.

TALES OF DRINKING

Two persons, Mrs. Irene King, who lives at the rooming-house on East Fourth street, and Ed Lefler, a Southern Pacific engineer, who said they were acquaintances of Mrs. Hitchcock, told police that the latter had been drinking heavily for the last two weeks.

As she was being given emergency treatment at the hospital Mrs. Hitchcock admitted that she had been drinking liquor supplied by "three or four different bootleggers" but stated she "did not know their names."

Several empty whisky bottles were found in the woman's room, Corsini reported. These are held as evidence and a search immediately started for the bootleggers believed to have supplied Mrs. Hitchcock with the asserted poison liquor.

VIKINGS TRIM ANTARCTIC SAIL

arriving about November 8, where they will join the expedition's two ships, the bark City of New York and the trawler Eleanor Bolling, both of which are now southbound in the Pacific with sixty-seven other members of the expedition on board. From Wellington, the two ships will sail south to fight their way through the 200-mile ice barrier and are expected to reach the open water of the Ross Sea, within 1000 miles of the pole, about December 15. The 100 dogs, in charge of Arthur T. Walden and three drivers, are en route to the Ross Sea aboard the Norwegian whaler Sir James Clark Ross and will await Commander Byrd at the whaling base on the Bay of Whales, Ross Sea.

Flying will be the chief method of travel for the explorers and four monoplanes, each specially adapted to the rigorous work of polar flying, are aboard the C. A. Larsen. The planes, their air-cooled motors and operating radius, follow: Ford metal trimotor, two Wright Whirlwind motors and one Wright Cyclone (center,) radius 3000 miles; Fairchild, Pratt & Whitney Wasp engine, 2000 miles; Fokker, Wasp motor, 2000 miles; General Aircraft, Warner motor, 1500 miles.

RADIO APPARATUS

Eight separate short-wave radio sets, each licensed by the Federal Radio Commission, will be operated. The most powerful of these, WFBT and WFA, will send out the news of the expedition's progress, to be published exclusively in Southern California by The Times. All official radio traffic will be relayed by the Navy to the United States via Samoa, San Diego, the fleet at this port and Arlington.

Capt. Oscar Nilsen, veteran Antarctic whaler, who commands the C. A. Larsen, announced that all facilities of the Ross Sea Whaling Company will be made available to Commander Byrd in emergency. The C. A. Larsen and Sir James Clark Ross, with their ten "killer" steamers, will operate in the Ross Sea until April, upon the close of the whaling season, when the C. A. Larsen will return here with her season's supply of whale oil. She will also bring back first pictures of the expedition in action.

PASSAGE NEGOTIATED

The C. A. Larsen, Norway's biggest ship, was successfully brought through the Southern Pacific drawbridge and in through the exceedingly dangerous West Basin channel yesterday morning at low tide by Capt. Fred Warner, veteran port pilot. Capt. Warner was highly praised by shipping men who witnessed his smart seamanship. The big ship, drawing almost thirty-two feet of water, will be forced to await flood tide tonight to reach deep water in the main channel.

Thousands of spectators are expected to be present at the Western Refinery dock, at Berth 128, when she shoves off, while shipping interests have planned a genuinely seagoing farewell for Commander Byrd and his men as they put to sea.

SECRETARY WILBUR SENDS BEST WISHES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Secretary Wilbur today dispatched a message to Commander Richard E. Byrd at Los Angeles upon the eve of his departure for the Antarctic for his two-year expedition. The message read:

"I wish you every success in your great venture. I believe you will contribute greatly to the advance of science."

Assistant Secretary Robinson also sent Commander Byrd a message, but declined to make it public because he said it was of a personal nature.

FIERCE SQUIRREL BITES GIRL IN PERSHING SQUARE JUNGLE

Well, it really happened. And Miss Lenna Snead of 1445 South Flower street, was the victim, according to a police report.

It happened in Pershing Square, that green oasis in a desert of concrete and steel which a recent reform movement transformed into a horticultural experiment of weeping willows and palm trees, and cooing pigeons feeding on pop corn and peanuts on the bricked walks.

At any rate Detective-Lieutenants Whaples and Kashuba, operating under the personal direction of Acting Captain Hickey of the police homicide squad, received a fast call from Pershing Square. For some reason details were lacking in the telephone call sent in by an unidentified citizen. So the detectives armed themselves with sawed-off shotguns and rushed forth.

Their report, made on their return, stated:

"The above party was bitten by a squirrel in Pershing Square and taken to the receiving hospital for treatment. The squirrel had disappeared when we arrived so were unable to get a description. Advised the officer on the beat to keep a look out as the squirrel might have been inflicted with hydrophobia."

among stockmen for three or four years at least."

Food production is the one problem remaining to be solved, the vice-president said.

Mr. Houghton said the country throughout is in good business and financial condition and merchants are buying more freely.

SEATS SOLD OUT FOR JERITZA'S "CARMEN"

Los Angeles, breaker of many records, tonight will equal another. Paris, New York, Buenos Aires have all in turn paid tribute to Jeritza, the opera star, by sell-out performances to her appearance in "Carmen." Tonight Los Angeles will do the same. Since last Friday the Shrine Auditorium, with its 6500 seats, has been sold out for this evening's performance. Tickets are said to be at a premium.

DR. BROOKE TO LECTURE

Dr. Tucker Brooke, visiting professor in English language and literature at the University of Southern California from Yale will lecture on "Striking Personalities in the Elizabethan and Romantic Periods" in Bridge Hall at Thirty-seventh street and University avenue, Friday at 2:15 p.m. This is one of a series of lectures on "Masterpieces in English Literature" being given by Dr. Brooke.

BALDWIN HEIR WINS IN DIVORCE

Mrs. Winter Granted Decree and Custody on Desertion Charge

Dextra Baldwin Winter, granddaughter of "Lucky" Baldwin, yesterday appeared before Judge McComb where she obtained a divorce from Thaddeus Winter.

The charge was desertion, but the desertion was explained as the result of a discussion of finances.

Mrs. Winter told Judge McComb that on July 18, 1927, domestic discussion veered around to the topic of her separate income. Winter had some ideas as to how she should spend it, she said. Mrs. Winter had different ideas. So Winter just went away from home, she testified.

The couple married in 1920. They have a daughter, Anita Baldwin Winter, whose custody was granted Mrs. Winter.

DEATH GRIP OBTAINED ON GETTY WELL

Workmen Fasten Clamp on Pipe Preparatory to Smothering Fire

First actual steps in stemming the flow of gas and oil in the outlaw Getty well No. 17 at Santa Fe Springs were made yesterday.

The clamp which is expected by engineers to enable them to cut through the casing fifty feet below the surface was fastened on. The tunnel and chamber have been completed and plans are being rushed forward to install the drill within the collar around the casing.

Actual tapping of the well cannot be made for approximately thirty-six hours, men at the scene of operations stated. Adjustment of the collar and a preliminary tap will be necessary before the large hole can be drilled, they said.

Hopes have not been abandoned by a surface crew of smothering the gusher by injecting well cement from the top, but attempts made so far have failed.

Hollywood Men Get Action on Cahuenga Road

Headed by Carl Bush, secretary of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, a group of property owners yesterday appeared before the City Council's Opening and Widening Committee and urged early construction of the proposed east road through Cahuenga Pass.

In accordance with a report of the City Engineer, the committee recommended cost estimates and plans to be made for the project, the engineering expenses to be paid from the major traffic fund.

When the 2-cent major traffic fund was approved by the voters, the Traffic Commission recommended that $200,000 be allocated toward the cost of this project.

The instructions to the engineer cover the east pass road, Dark Canyon road to Burbank, and the proposed bridge over the pass, linking sections of the Mulholland High Way.

BEAN TO BE HONORED

Eagles Set Aside Night at Aerie for Detective Captain

In honor of Captain of Detectives Bean who, besides being head of the police homicide squad, is president of the Los Angeles Aerie No. 102, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Thursday evening, the 18th inst., will be observed at the aerie as "Jimmy Bean night."

According to Superior Judge McConnell, chairman of the membership committee, applications pouring in indicate that there will be a class of 250 and more to be initiated on this night. Capt. Bean has been president of the local aerie for three terms, was a member of the board of trustees for five years, and a trustee of the State aerie for the last two years. Mayor Cryer, Chief of Police Davis and many other prominent Eagles will attend. The entertainment will be in the hands of Charles F. Reisner and John McArdle will preside over the reception committee.

QUARREL BRINGS SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Leaving a note saying she did not want to live after quarreling with her sweetheart, Mrs. Buddy Clark, 25 years of age, an actress, took a quantity of poison yesterday at the Sheridan Apartments, Bixel street and Maryland avenue. She was treated at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for poisoning after collapsing in front of 1117 West Sixth street. Mrs. Clark is known on the stage as Jeannette Marcella. She was removed to the psychopathic ward at General Hospital.

POLICE HUNT FOR WOMAN IN TRAGEDY

Visiting Card Gives Clew in Presumptive Suicide of Seattle Engineer

Discovery of a small visiting card bearing the name, "Alice," and a telephone number led police to believe that a local woman figured in the last few days of the life of Lieut. John D. Miley, civil engineer and member of a well-known Seattle (Wash.) pioneer family, whose body was found in a rooming-house at 1141 West First street yesterday. Search was started.

Miley, who registered at the rooming-house on the 4th inst., under the name of E. A. Roberts of Washington, first slashed his wrists and then shot himself in the head with a .32-caliber automatic pistol, according to Detective-Lieutenant Stevens of the police homicide squad. He had been dead about four days, it is believed. The gun was found beside the body.

Discovery was made by Mrs. L. Kaufman, the landlady. She stated that she did not see Miley after he registered and that he was about 35 years of age.

In a wallet Detective-Lieutenant Stevens found papers which disclosed his identity. One card bore the address, 1216 Ninth avenue, Seattle, Wash. Other cards showed he was a member of various organizations.

That Miley may have ended his life because of financial difficulties was suggested by the finding of a ticket showing that he had pawned a watch September 29, last.

NEW BADGES PROPOSED

Preparation of an ordinance in connection with a new type of badge to be issued to police department members, providing also for limiting distribution of them only to those entitled to wear them, yesterday was referred to a committee for a report at the next meeting of the Police Commission.

GIRLS WOULD STUDY AVIATION

Insist on Joining "Times" Boys' School

"Well, Amelia Made It!"

Co says Barbara Bower to Lieut. McBride when she makes plea to be taken in new course of instruction in aviation in behalf of girls from Nature Music School.

WHEN Miss Amelia Earhart flew across the Atlantic she put new ideas in the minds of several Los Angeles girls and chief among them is Barbara Brower, 12 years of age, who yesterday applied for enrollment in the Los Angeles Times Aviation School for Boys.

Barbara, who represented a group of girls from the Nature Music School, 1136 Grandview street, declared she and her chums had earned the right to share the same thrills of airplane construction as the boys and exhibited a cleverly built model of the Junkers plane to Lieut. Ross McBride, aviator instructor in charge of The Times school, which is held at the National Aeronautical School, Santa Barbara and Figueroa streets.

Lieut. McBride conducted Barbara through the construction and motor rooms of The Times juvenile aviation school hoping the visit might appease her desire, but Miss Brower was emphatic in her declaration girls should share equally with boys with the result that a class will be opened soon in which girls interested in aviation will be taught the fundamentals of airplane construction, theory of flying and the functions of airplane motors.

PATROLMAN IN WRIGHT CASE FINED

Officer Who Failed to Appear Against Christie Loses Nine Days' Pay

For failure to appear in Municipal Judge Hardy's court against C. P. Christie, Hollywood, accused of violating the Wright Act, as the result of which the case against Christie was dismissed, Patrolman W. J. Massey, of the Hollywood division, yesterday was ordered by the Police Commission to be fined nine days' pay, totaling $60.

Chief Davis recommended a fine of three days' pay, which was raised by the commission after hearing the facts. Secretary F. P. Stevens, of the police personnel, explained that because of the prominence of Christie it was necessary that the matter of censuring the officer should not be overlooked.

Stevens asserted that September 12, last, Christie had been the cause of a serious automobile accident, that liquor was found in his car, but that efforts to obtain complaints against him in the District Attorney's office had failed and the Wright Act charge had been filed. He said Massey had been subpoenaed to appear against Christie but had failed to show up. L. P. Wilson, another officer, also subpoenaed, was busy in court on another case at the time, Stevens said.

"The court seized as an excuse the nonappearance of Massey to dismiss the case," declared Chief Davis. "Because the officer did not appear, the case should have been continued until the officer was present in court to testify against Christie."

PROPERTY OWNERS TO MEET

A mass meeting of property owners and merchants of Washington Boulevard will be conducted Friday at 8 p.m. on the ninth floor of the Chamber of Commerce Building to discuss the proposed abandonment of the proceedings for opening the boulevard east of Alameda street.

Twenty-one Face Council Seeking Airport Place

Twenty-one candidate for the position of Director of Municipal Airports were interviewed by the members of the City Council yesterday afternoon, and this morning the remaining candidates, twenty in number, will appear before the Councilmen. The candidates were asked their qualifications for the position. Most of the men seeking the position have had army flying and aviation engineering training, as well as business experience.

The Council hopes to make a quick decision and select the temporary appointee so the director can start work laying out Mines Field and installing the necessary equipment to make it an established airport that will quickly return in rentals and other income the city's outlay for the field and other expense.

The position of Director of Airports will pay a salary of $400 a month. The appointment now is temporary as the position will be under civil service.

Wife Divorces Man Who Make Her Joke-Foil

Mrs. Maria C. Molina stood for being the victim of a good many practical jokes played by her husband, Ulysses Molina, but when he punctured a hot-water bottle and nearly scalded her to death she thought he had gone too far.

This was Mrs. Molina's contention yesterday when asking Judge Stutsman to grant her a divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

"He used to brag how funny he was and every time he thought of a new joke he tried it on me," Mrs. Molina declared. The decree was granted.

Today's Bible Text

Rejoice the soul of Thy servant: for unto Thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul. Psalm lxxxvi:4.

IN THE FOLD

Now that a Protestant bishop has come out for prohibition why not make it unanimous?

THEY DURST DO IT

The guy with an impediment in his conscience says that the Yankees treated the Cardinals in a Ruthless manner. Well, it was Huggins's treat.

THE FLYING MAIL

Speaking of reliability runs it is mentioned that the air-mail pilots on the flight between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City flew 187,000 miles without any delay or mishap. Even a letter carrier may stub his toe, but these guys never miss.

CALLING A BLUFF

Chairman Raskob is said to have declared that this talk about Republican prosperity is mostly bluff. But Senator Borah suggests that inasmuch as the gentleman has rounded up more than $50,000,000 in good money in the last eight years it has been a rather substantial bluff. He is hardly one to find fault.

OUR MAN OF MEDAL

Having had no new medals for a couple of weeks Col. Charles Lindbergh will now get one worth while. This will be one of the three annual awards from the Roosevelt Foundation and will be given him for his leadership of American youth and the development of American character. The Roosevelt trophy is a massive affair of purest gold and its possession indicates achievement of the highest order.

NIGHT SCHOOL FOR ALL

It is reported that more than 31,000 students have registered here for the various sessions of what are known as the night high schools. This is an extra form of tuition and was unknown in days of old. It opens aisles of instruction to persons of all ages and both sexes and is indeed a most worthy feature of modern educational machinery. Those who criticise the ornamental methods of the new pedagogy may pause and think.

NOTHING ON FOOT

Some years back the boys and girls in country school districts in the Northern States might have had to break their way through hip-high snowdrifts over four or five miles of rough road, with the mercury below zero. This would be their morning normal expectation. It was all footwork. Now the indulgent school boards are expected to provide cushioned motor busses to convey the youngsters over a mile of paved boulevard to a marble palace of knowledge. Anyhow, this is progress.

GNAW BONE

Los Angeles might ponder over Gnaw Bone. That picturesque Indiana town had a significance and history in early days. Then its citizenry became refined and ashamed of its origin. So it reduced it to Westport. Quite recently, however, it decided to go back to its old rugged name.

It discovered that Westport was an ordinary hamlet without class or distinction. Any other crossroads could have a postoffice with the same tame name.

Some realtor may have thought Gnaw Bone hardly dignified enough. Some maiden lady from New England may have wanted to perpetuate a memory, and suggested Westport. Maybe a neighboring hamlet or realtor inspired the first alteration.

But once again there is only one Gnaw Bone in all the world. It is unique and individual. Drama may have started it. A dog may have founded it at breakfast. A hungry trapper may have furnished the setting and christened it at a camp fire.

But the town has decided to accept its ancestry and become famous again. Already it is being press-agented all over the country and more than one metropolitan journal has given it comment and space on its editorial page.

The crest of Gnaw Bone is simple. It is picturesque and needs no definition. Old-timers and miners have a way of hooking up events on names.

TOO MUCH BUSINESS ZONING

The Supreme Court of the United States has sustained the right of a city to enact zoning laws for the protection of its own best interests and of those of its citizens and property owners. The fundamental purpose of zoning is to promote the orderly, regulated growth of a community so that the home owner, the business man and the industrialist shall be protected in their several rights. Zoning properly done, therefore, is of the first importance.

The rapid growth of Los Angeles has brought about an abuse of zoning that should be brought to an end. This is the reckless, unscientific, unnecessary zoning of lots and frontage for short distances for business purposes. In most cases the applicant for these "spot" and short-distance zoning changes hopes to make more money out of his property when zoned for business than when classed as residential property.

One result of this kind of zoning during the past few years is that in Los Angeles today the area ratio of business property to residential districts is one to four. That is, 20 per cent of our whole area is zoned by business. In other American cities the ratio remains stable at between 8 and 10 per cent business to 92 and 90 for other purposes. Thus Los Angeles is over-zoned for business, roughly, twice.

Individual property owners who have obtained this zoning may think that they have gained an advantage in values, but in the long run they, as well as the community as a whole, will suffer by it.

The city today has more property zoned for business than it will require for service to the residents of the city for two or three generations. The Los Angeles Realty Board has sensed this mistake, and is co-operating with city planning officials to call a halt to indiscriminate business zoning. District associations have also sounded a warning. The Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, for example, is doing excellent work along these lines to protect residential districts.

Hardly a day passes at the City Hall that applications are not filed asking for business zoning for districts now zoned for residential purposes. A recent case now pending at the City Hall is an application for business zoning on the north side of Wilshire Boulevard between Brea Park and San Vicente Boulevard in the vicinity of Fairfax avenue. This proposed business district would adjoin the restricted beautified residential district of Carthay Center. In handling this case and others similar to it that are filed almost daily the City Council should consider the facts, personally inspect the proposed business district, ascertain if there is a real need for business zoning or whether the zoning change is being asked for simply to secure higher speculative valuations, and whether the change will be an injustice to property owners who have built their homes in that supposedly residential area.

In this case and others like it the Council has an opportunity to stop a short-sighted practice which is damaging the city and driving prospective home owners out of Los Angeles to adjacent cities and communities.

A GREAT ADVENTURE

Commander Byrd, who sails today on the first leg of a journey that may carry him to the South Pole, is embarked upon one of the most hazardous adventures ever undertaken by a human being. In comparison his North Pole exploit and his flight over the Atlantic, difficult and dangerous as they were, are ordinary achievements. It is difficult to imagine worse flying conditions than are to be found in the Antarctic, if reports of previous explorers there are at all reliable, and the layman who hears them described is apt to consider that the commander's own estimate that he has a fifty-fifty chance of success is the product of extreme optimism.

The hazard of the Antarctic continent consists of windstorms of terrific force, bringing with them stupendous snowfalls; and these storms appear to gather almost without warning. The wind has been known to change from dead calm to a velocity of fifty miles an hour in two minutes, and wind velocities, not occasionally but frequently, rise to 200 miles an hour. Such velocities surpass those of the hurricane. During a snowfall it is impossible to see more than six feet in any direction. Should such a storm rise while the commander and his pilots are on their polar flight, their only chance will be to turn and run before it. It will be 750 miles from Byrd's base to the pole and fairly calm weather for about twenty hours will be necessary if he is to succeed. Such a long time without a storm is to be hoped for, but not to be counted on.

Somewhat less hazardous, perhaps, will be a series of shorter exploration flights he plans to make from his base on the Bay of Whales. To the eastward of this bay, an indentation in Ross Sea, the country is completely unexplored. It is believed to be mountainous; Byrd will seek to establish whether or not it is and to learn something of the great ice barrier which shuts it off, and also whether the Antarctic continent is a single land-mass, or whether, as is suspected, it is divided into two or more great islands.

The whole party is exposed to considerable danger from the fact that it is not known definitely whether the lowest point in the ice barrier, where the party will enter the continent, is in fact anchored on land or whether it is floating. If the latter there is a chance that the whole base may go floating off to sea, carrying the expedition with it!

Stout hearts as well as the best of equipment are obviously required for such a journey.

CHOOSES TO RUN

Prussia's champion marathon runner left President Hindenberg's birthday banquet on a run around the world. He started with his face to the east and after his sprints through Europe and Asia he will take ship for California on his little jog to New York. He figures that he can do the trick in a year and he has a date to breeze in on the German executive on the occasion of his next birthday celebration. If he does we'll bet he has a calloused heel. It's a long jaunt for a foot-passenger.

The LEE SIDE O' LA

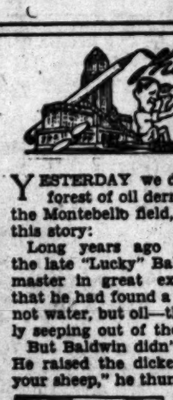
By Lee Shippey



YESTERDAY we drove through the forest of oil derricks which marks the Montebello field, and they told us this story:

Long years ago a shepherder for the late "Lucky" Baldwin ran to his master in great excitement, saying that he had found a spring which was not water, but oil—that it was actually seeping out of the earth.

But Baldwin didn't raise his salary. He raised the dickens. "Go back to your sheep," he thundered, "and don't bother me with unimportant things."

Hats Off to Whittier

We were at Whittier, too, yesterday, and we must say that town sets Los Angeles a good example in its reverence for its most historic building. Nobody goes to Whittier without being shown the old Pico House, home of California's last Mexican Governor and probably the finest adobe mansion in the State. When Don Pio Pico took his bride there it was the manor house of El Ranchito, the little ranch, so called because it contained only about 8000 acres. And Don Pio was so immensely rich that 8000 acres was nothing. It was said then that he could travel from San Diego to San Francisco, stopping to sleep every night on land he owned.

Treasure Seekers

He was so rich, in fact, that many people will not yet believe he died in poverty, and James Fry, caretaker at the house, continually is annoyed by seekers after buried treasure. Recently he caught one man industriously digging in the adobe walls of the old wine cellar. By tapping on the wall he thought he had discovered a hollow spot, and believed he would find Don Pio's treasure there.

"They're always digging up the grounds, too," Fry complained. "But the good old don was too generous and too poor a trader. He really died a poor man."

Oldest Adobe

Fry asserts that the oldest part of the house was begun in 1801, but historians say the house dates back only to 1826. It was a thirty-three-room house, with a big ballroom upstairs, but half of it was washed away in a big flood and only sixteen rooms remain, enough, however, to give some idea of how the haughty hacendados lived before the gringoes came. The thick adobe walls still defy heat and cold as nothing else can. The well in the patio gave the city of Whittier a tip, and it is pumping water from another well beside the house now. The wine cellar is comparatively small, suggesting that Don Pio must have inspired temperance at all the great banquets with which the house continually rang, or else that the turnover must have been extremely rapid.

Strategically Planned

Architecture in those days appears to have been more a matter of military strategy than of domestic comfort. The windows were iron-barred, as windows still are throughout Mexico, so that they might be flung wide and yet keep out intruders. But behind those light and airy rooms were a row of absolutely windowless rooms opening into another row of rooms well lighted and aired from the patio. That, avers Fry, was for purposes of defense. In case of attack the defenders of the house could fall back into the dark rooms, if hard pressed, and put their attackers at great disadvantage when they rushed into the well-lit outer rooms. Such thoughts well may have influenced house designs in 1826.

Modern Gypsies

Not far from the Pico House there has for some time been a gypsy camp, where all who wished to get gypped were welcome. We passed there the other day just as a caravan of gypsies whizzed out—in motor cars. Pretty good motor cars, too. Only two women and a flock of children were left, and they did not want to talk about themselves, but about us—for money. But they wouldn't read our palm. They were phrenologists, they said, not palmists. Not even for money would they read our palm. They insisted there are lines in the head as well as in the hand. We couldn't understand it, as we never before saw gypsies who didn't read palms. Finally we asked: "Can it be that there is a high licens on palmists and clairvoyants and not on phrenologists?" But the gypsy maiden looked us calmly in the eye and said: "Palm reading was when we traveled with horses. Now, with motor cars, all people's foolishness goes to their heads."

APPLES OF GOLD

The orange was once dessert. Its entrance into a household was an event. It was a delicacy and broke into the best families only on Christmas and at banquets.

Then came the time when the orange was fruit. It was plentiful enough to be eaten for breakfast as an appetizer. It ceased to be a luxury and became a diet. However, it was not prized for its beneficence to the body, but for its flavor and attractiveness.

Today we have entered the third stage. In addition to all their other attributes, oranges are a medicine. Now you take them by the dose, as you do spinach or castor oil. However, they are pleasanter to negotiate than either and do not require capsules to camouflage their presence.

No matter what is the matter with you, you drink orange juice. If your liver is sluggish, you drink a glass of orange juice to stir it up to good works. If your stomach is in a state of rebellion from too much chili, you cease all condiments and devote yourself to orange juice. If your bowels need relief, orange juice will qualify better than Al Smith's prescription. If your kidneys are suffering from too much capitalism, orange juice will function better than sovietism. If your heart palpitates, let it have some orange juice. Even a bad conscience may be found to be biliousness that needs orange juice as a remedy.

The rise of the prince of orange is noteworthy. This is not a joke. Everything from old age to halitosis or pimples may be helped. The panacea for most of our ills grows in our back yards. The substitute for most every patent medicine is being sorted out in the packing-house and shipped to your doors.

It is canned sunshine. It is California fresh air put up in balls like pellets and may be dispatched to the farthest corners of climate and disease. If folks back East cannot come to California, California may be started to them. Even a billing clerk can prescribe—the remedy is so simple.

Oranges are good health put up in golden globes. Californians have many blessings. They are permitted to work where others come to play. And even when they fall ill, their medicine is the dessert of other nations.

THE LAW VINDICATED

Five justices of the United States Supreme Court having expressed the opinion that there has been no miscarriage of justice, so far, in the Hickman case, the law will now presumably take its course, and, after a week from next Friday, the world will be better off because Hickman will be only a bad memory.

The self-appointed Ajax who has been trying to save Hickman's life will be able, now, to rest and reflect. If he is capable of learning from his experience, he will discover that he has accomplished nothing except to prevent his client from going to a speedy and merciful death, and has given him, instead, some months of torture and final disappointment, which the law would not willingly have inflicted upon him.

His fight was for what? Not for justice; that will be done when Hickman is hanged. Not for the public good; that, also, will best be served by this hanging. Not for his client's best interests; even Hickman will be better off in the grave. If anything, he sought to prove that a man, single-handed, may obstruct and delay and stave off the process which the consensus of society has deemed proper and necessary; may make, for a time, a mockery of the courts which it is his sworn duty to respect and to uphold.

If he has succeeded in proving this he has proved also the corollary that that is too much power for one man to have, and that court procedure must be changed so that criminals will more quickly get their just deserts.

POETRY FOR THE PEOPLE

By James J. Montague

If you've never earned more than a dollar a day
Don't ever feel worried or blue,
You may purchase General Motors some day
Or put even bigger deals through.
Napoleon never was fussed or upset
By all of the wallops and jolts that he met;
You may be a King or a President yet—
You never know what you can do.

If you want to write poems like Shelley and Keats
That will make people kow-tow to you,
Get a bottle of ink and a half dozen sheets
And the poet's profession pursue.
The public at first may not fall for your stuff
And I think you are making a pretty sick bluff,
But they may change their minds if you write long enough—
You never know what you can do.

If you want to back Fairbanks and Hart off the screen
And receive all the deference due
To a king of the movies, or maybe a queen—
And both fame and vast riches accrue,
Go right down to Hollywood, get a good job,
Show people you know how to pulsate and throb
And move them to laughter, or force them to sob—
You never know what you can do.

If you want to be wealthy, and join the great ranks
Of the men that you read about, who
Are second vice-presidents in the big banks
You need just earn a million or two,
Then buy a large business and make a great name,
And Wall street will presently hear of your fame
And make you a star in the financial game—
You never know what you can do.

JURY TRIALS IN CRIMINAL CASES

BY FRANK JAMES,
Member Board of Governors of the State Bar of California

The California penal code provides that on a trial for libel the jury has a right to determine the law and the facts and on a trial for any offense other than libel, questions of law are to be decided by the court and questions of fact by the jury. This rule applies to general verdicts.

These code provisions settle a long-drawn-out controversy with respect to the right of the jury to determine questions of law; they do not abridge the common law privilege of the trial judge to comment to the jury on the evidence.

The Constitution of the State, however, takes away the common law privilege of the trial judge to comment to the jury on the evidence. It provides that a judge shall not charge the jury with respect to matters of fact, but may state the testimony.

Opinion concerning the propriety of the constitutional limitation upon the common law privilege of the trial judge has been and is divided. At the present time a majority of lawyers undoubtedly favor restoration of the privilege.

Repeal of the constitutional provision would not, of course, take from the jury its exclusive privilege of determining questions of fact; it would merely restore the right of the trial judge to comment, that is, to give the jury his views upon the evidence and leave the jury free to accept or reject the same.

Two questions are of interest here: Why was the common law privilege of the trial judge to comment on the evidence taken away? Why should the privilege be restored?

Why was the common law privilege of the trial judge of State courts to comment to the jury upon the evidence taken away? Because anywhere from 40 to 100 years ago or thereabouts a notion was prevalent that the exercise of the privilege was an invasion of the rights of the jury. Because there was and is a feeling prevalent among a few members of the bar that the right of a trial judge to comment to the jury upon the evidence is fraught with grave danger when placed in the hands of an inexperienced or a temperamental, or an unscrupulous judge.

These are the more important reasons and the ones usually given.

Court records will disclose that instances of domination by judges are so few and so far between as to be negligible. The most common, and perhaps juster, criticism is that some judges do not exercise sufficient direction over jurors, counsel and witnesses in the conduct of the trial.

Infrequently some one unfit for judicial position is placed on the bench. The criticism, however, is not emphasized so much against the inexperienced and the temperamental as against the unscrupulous judge who, it is thought, improperly takes advantage of his position to influence a verdict to suit his preconceived prejudices or conceits, a criticism not justified by modern jury trial practices.

The real underlying reason for taking away the common law privilege of comment, was the desire to prevent the trial judge from checkmating the efforts of the parties to befuddle the jury on the facts, to leave the parties free to opiate the jury to a verdict by copious doses of collateral and immaterial matters. In proof of these statements witness any important jury trial, civil or criminal.

The more important inquiry is, Why the right of the judge to comment on the evidence should be restored?

The answer is that analysis of the evidence, particularly when involved, is helpful to jurors and, in fact, is indispensable oftimes to enable them to reach correct conclusions from the evidence. The occasions are rare, indeed, when the trial judge goes beyond clarification, that is, beyond statement of the testimony on either side.

The comment of the trial judge is not binding upon the jury under the common law practice. The jury is free, therefore, to accept or reject the comments of the judge. This rule is true even in cases where, under the present law of California, the judge deems the evidence insufficient in a criminal case to warrant conviction and advises the jury for acquittal. The jury may, nevertheless, refuse to acquit because, under the statute as well as under common law practice, the jury is free to accept or reject the advice of the judge.

In modern times search will be made in vain for a case where there has been a miscarriage of justice growing out of the rule permitting the judge to comment upon the evidence to the jury. The reasons are at least twofold: First, because the judge exercising the privilege, purposely avoids usurping the functions of the jury, and secondly, because the juror has sufficient intelligence to appraise the comment.

What the average juror needs is impartial, unbiased help. What the average juror lacks is experience in the business, so to speak, of getting at the truth from witnesses whose testimony is conflicting and then of applying the law as laid down by the court to the facts.

The juror above all else needs the suggestions of a person indifferent between the parties and, of course, experienced in marshaling and weighing testimony, to indicate to him the road leading to truth, the rules to be applied for discovery of the truth.

If the trial judge should go beyond the limits of advice and seek to favor one side or the other, the jurors would reject his advice instantly and disdainfully resent the judge's overstepping.

Amendment to the Constitution to authorize the trial judge to comment upon the evidence to the jury is one of a number of important matters to come before the State Bar of California for discussion at its annual meeting, Huntington Hotel, Pasadena, this October 11, 12 and 13. The meeting is open to the lay public.

Smith Calls It Right

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Gov. Smith at Helena exhibited Teapot Dome, and raved at Hoover. If the New York Governor crosses over into the United States a few more times Hoover's majority may run to 25,000,000. Herbert Hoover had no more to do with Teapot Dome than the Ahkoond of Swat. Time enough to rail at Hoover when something wrong is found about his management of the Department of Commerce. Gov. Smith's dig at the Republican nominee serves at least one good purpose. It reminds thoughtful voters of Smith's panegyric delivered July 4 last in New York.

Before this writer is a picture of the Governor in Tammany regalia. He is speaking from the platform in the Wigwam. He is in the house of his friends. Here he received his training in politics and in statesmanship. In the course of his address upon this occasion, Smith, referring to Tammany, said: "No organization can live 130 years that isn't right."

Let's turn to impartial authority. The International Encyclopedia says: "Tammany government means a government of blackmail, of fostered vice, of police corruption, and, if not of outright dishonesty in all respects, at least of general wastefulness and inefficiency."

On page 391, Volume 28, eleventh edition, the Encyclopedia Britannica says: "Tammany subordinates the interests of the Democratic party, as a whole, to its own selfish interests. . . . The money raised by and for the hall and its leaders has come from the blackmailing of corporations, . . . and, lastly, indirectly through corrupt police officials, from the criminal classes and gambling establishments in return for nonintervention on the part of the police."

If this is the kind of an institution that Gov. Smith says is "right," then do Americans want him for their President?

E. M. B.

Colored Voters

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I cannot understand how any colored person can vote the Democratic ticket when they get the facts in the case. The Republican party was the party that acted to give all men their freedom, which we would probably not have had today, only for them. When President Lincoln issued his proclamation and a little later started to conscript men for the army in New York Tammany and its henchmen started a riot against helping to free the colored race from bondage. Today the Democratic party consists mainly of Tammany and the old solid South, although the better class people of the South know that slavery was a great moral wrong, just as the liquor traffic is a great moral wrong. We colored people should remember that it was the Republican party that gave us our freedom and it is up to us to support them and it is also up to us to show that we were worthy of what they gave us.

GEORGE W. BROWN.

Challenged

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The feature editorial on the Canadian liquor law, published in The Times the first part of this week is challenged by Canadian friends of ours.

Being an ardent supporter of Herbert Hoover I considered the editorial good campaign material and could find absolutely nothing misleading in it. More like it will keep up the standard of The Times' campaign literature.

On the other hand, your daily articles on "Al Smith and the Canadian Liquor System" are not so good. They don't ring true. Facts are what we want, not idle statements that are meaningless. The "Story of Tammany" works in wonderfully well, too.

I am writing this hoping you will publish other articles on the Canadian liquor system. The women are keen about this question and it is in the campaign and must be valiantly met by the Republicans.

SUBSCRIBER.

Benjamin Franklin doubtless would feel pleased could he but know that there are more towns named after him than any other name known. Thirty of these United States of America boast a town or city so called, so that Franklin is the most common town name in use in the United States. It is to be hoped that when you send a postcard to somebody back in Franklin, you write the State exceptionally legibly, else twenty-nine postmasters are going to worry over it.

White Sox Snowed Under in Deciding Clash, 13-2

Southsiders Blanked Until Last Round by Blake

Bruins Score Six Times in First to Cinch Game

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. (AP)—Joe McCarthy's Cubs, third-place winners in the National League race, are the champions of Chicago.

"SHERIFF" BLAKE

After losing two straight games to their Southside rivals, Lena Blackburne's White Sox the Cubs pounded almost everything thrown at them today by four tired hurlers and won the seventh and deciding game of the city championship series, 13 to 2. Twenty-five thousand saw the contest.

Sheriff Blake, who already had won one game in the series, pitched masterful ball for the Cubs again today, holding the enemy scoreless until the last inning when he took matters easy and the White Sox pushed across their two runs. He allowed but seven hits. While the Cubs got sixteen hits, a good share of their runs were scored on opponents' errors. Five times the White Sox committed bobbles, blasting what morale their tired pitchers had.

In the first inning the Cubs scored six runs on an error, two walks and singles by Maguire, Stephenson, Grimm, Beck and Blake. George Connally started for the White Sox but was relieved by yound Ed Walsh, who in turn was replaced by Grady Adkins, all in the initial inning. Walks, errors and hits gave the Cubs six more in the fifth inning and another in the seventh.

George Cox was called to Adkins's rescue after seven Cubs had faced him in the sixth and he finally retired the side.

In the ninth, hits by Kamm, Hunnefield and Clancy brought in the White Sox scores.

By their victory the Cubs are city champions for the first time since 1925. McCarthy's men took the first two games of the series, dropped the third, won the fourth, dropped the fifth and sixth and came through today in the seventh. Score:

THAT FATAL SEVENTH

FORT SCOTT (Kan.) Oct. 9. (AP) The excitement of the world series was believed to have caused the death of Charles Ledlie, 75 years of age, Nevada, Mo., here this afternoon. He was stricken while listening to the radio report of the game, and died in a hospital a few minutes later.

Price Alters Backfield as California Prepares for Cougars

BEN LOM

BERKELEY, Oct. 9. (Exclusive)—Pacific Coast Conference game No. 1 of the 1928 season with the Washington State Cougars Saturday afternoon will find the University of California football varsity about halfway up the ladder of preparedness. The second half will be ascended next week previous to the telltale match with Prof. Howard H. Jones's "Thunderers" from the University of Southern California. Coach "Nibs" Price is so proud of the advances made in the brief practice period thus far that he has promised the entire student body a free peek at his regulars in action tomorrow afternoon.

The occasion is the "annual bleacher rally." On any other afternoon of the football season the bleachers are closed to everyone excepting the aristocracy favored with secret-practice passes. When "Nibs" hints that he is satisfied with recent progress he does not mean that he is content to let matters rest at that point. That much is proven in the changes made tonight in practice.

The first backfield, that sacred organization which has been but little touched so far, is at least being tampered with, even Bending Bennah Lom, the star triple threat, is included in the backfield metamorphosis. Eldred Dane, the flying fullback, who transferred from the Davis branch, is trying out in Lom's halfback berth. Lane has but little chance to hold down this important job on account of his lack of the versatile qualities which make up Lom's play. He does have speed, however, and may edge his way into a regular job before the season is much more aged.

The bleacher folks are keeping an eye on Russell Ewing, who has tem-

CLISBY DEFEATS JOHNSON IN OLYMPIC MAIN EVENT

BY PAUL LOWRY

A coupe of young bucks named Louis Ramos and Vernon Jackson, who had a lot of vim and vinegar in their systems and weren't afraid to uncork it stole the play from Neil Clisby and the venerable John Lester Johnson, who headed the all-black fistic bill at the Olympic last night.

Ramos, who is a stablemate of Santiago Zorilla and fights something like him, and Jackson went six torrid rounds to a draw. First one and then the other was in the lead. They fought up, down and all over the place.

There was no question about their fracas being a good one. There was about the main event.

HERE'S HOW PLAYERS WILL CUT WORLD SERIES MELON

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9. (AP)—Although the total players' pool of $419,736.60 set a new record for the world series, each winning share drawn down by the Yankee regulars, $5531.91, will fall somewhat short of the record individual total of more than $6000 established in 1923, when the Hugmen also won the prize. This dimunition is due both to the generosity of the Yankees in remembering secretaries and other club officials and to the share now deducted from the pool for members of the two major league clubs finishing fourth.

The losing St. Louis Cardinals, dividing their money into only twenty-eight parts, each will receive a check for $4197.37. Of the $419,736.60 in the pool, $293,815.62 goes to the players on the two world series contenders and the remaining $125,920.98 to the six first di-

ST. MARY'S WILL NOT CATCH TROJAN ELEVEN NAPPING IN SATURDAY'S COLISEUM GAME

BY BRAVEN DYER

If "Slip" Madigan expects to catch the Trojans of Southern California napping Saturday he has another think coming. The Trojans may get trimmed, for it's entirely possible for any grid team to get bowled over by slightly inferior opposition these days, but they'll be wide awake about it.

"SLIP" MADIGAN

Howard Jones is taking no chances on Madigan slipping one over on him. The St. Mary's coach, one of the most popular on the Coast, let the cat out of the bag early this year when he stated he was pointing for the Trojans. Jones knows what to expect now and is preparing for a bitter struggle.

Madigan's desire for victory is not an unnatural one. He surprised California two years ago, 26 to 7, and then turned around and upset Stanford, 16 to 0, last fall. It was in 1924 that the Gaels thumped the Trojans, 14 to 10, but Jones was not at the helm then, Gloomy Gus Henderson being skipper of the locals. The following year Jones's team turned the tables on Madigan, 14 to 0.

St. Mary's has a brilliant end in Ike Frankian, touted for all-American honors. He is big and fast and especially strong on the defensive. In addition Capt. Al Tobin, tackle, is rated one of the best on the Coast.

Reports from the California-St. Mary's game indicate that the Gaels did not show much offensive power. It is quite often the case that some teams do not perfect their attack as early as others, and Jones expects Madigan to have plenty of punch Saturday. The Gaels generally resort to the air for gains and the Trojans will have to maintain their excellent defensive playing if they are to cope successfully with the aerial barrage the Saints will undoubtedly unloose.

There wasn't much excitement at Bovard Field last night. Bert Ritchey, new first-string fullback, when Lloyd Thomas is used at quarter, could not scrimmage due to an injured

DAVIS TO LEAD HARRIERS

CLAREMONT, Oct. 9. (Exclusive) Wilbert Davis of Hawaii has been elected to lead Pomona's freshman cross-country team this year.

Disputed Strike Starts Slide of Sherdel

Capt. Frisch and the rest of the Cardinals, arguing that Ruth, by remaining in the box, had been fanned. It was an angry debate, cheered on by Ruth's handicapping, but also to the accompaniment of wild boos and jeers from the crowd as Sherdel went back finally to the box. The southpaw, mad and upset, threw two balls, then grooved one that the Babe caught and lifted again over the entire right-field barrier.

Sherdel, unable to settle down, was hit for another home run by Lou Gehrig, putting the Yankees into the lead for the first time, and walked dejectedly from the box when Bob Meusel laced a single to left.

One pitched ball thus had turned the whole complexion of the game, swiftly and surely.

YANK ATTACK FUNCTIONS

Aided by it, the Yankees, after playing in slipshop fashion behind Hoyt for the first six innings, got their famous attack functioning once more. Old Pete Alexander tried to check the tide but it was too late. The Yankees, with Earle Combs figuring in the attack as a pinch hitter, for the first time and driving in a run, ran up four runs altogether in the seventh, then capped the climax with two more home-run thrusts, one by Cedric Durst and the other by Ruth, in the eighth.

So aroused had become the bleacher crowd after that fatal seventh and Umpire Pfirman's ruling that Ruth was the target for a mild shower of pop bottles when he went out to his position in left field in the Cardinal half of the inning. Three of the missiles landed within a short distance of the Babe, who threw them from the field.

There were wild jeers again when Ruth came to bat in the eighth, but as suddenly they turned to cheers as the Bambino hoisted his third homer to the roof of the right-field stands.

To cap the climax of one of his greatest days, Ruth ended the game and the series with a remarkable one-hand running catch of Frisch's foul along the left-field boxes in the ninth inning, dashing into the dugout as the crowd surged out on the field.

BABE SHATTERS RECORD

EL CABALLERO MAY CHANGE HANDS

Rumors that the El Caballero Country Club would be put up for sale were verified yesterday when Jess Puryear, club manager, announced that El Caballero officials were dickering on a deal. At present the property consists of 272 acres, but interested buyers are only desirous of securing between 125 and 130 acres, enough for a course.

If plans go through, the new course will be designed by William P. Bell. The layout would be built to the east instead of the west, as at present. It would take in a beautiful grove of sycamores to the south and southeast.

El Caballero rates among the finest courses in the United States and club officials are doing their best to keep the course intact.

Bob Robinson got a hole-in-one on the 144-yard fifth hole yesterday while playing with George Ramsey.

TOO MUCH POWER

TOO much ball club! Too much Babe Ruth!

Those two things spell the downfall of the Cardinals and tell the story of a record never equalled before in baseball history—the winning of two consecutive world series by the same club in straight games.

Since the inception of the world series between the winners of the American and National leagues in 1903 only three teams have succeeded in whitewashing their foes.

The Boston Braves skunked the Athletics in 1914, the Yanks blanked the Pirates last year and repeated on the Cards this year.

There have been three series in which draws interrupted a clean sweep—the Cubs over Detroit in 1908, the Boston Red Sox over the Giants in 1912 and the New York Giants over the Yanks in 1922—but nothing to compare with the remarkable record of the Yanks of 1927 and 1928.

In the face of serious handicaps the Yanks rose to supreme heights this year to prove themselves the greatest ball club of all time.

And Mr. Ruth! That's a sad story for the Card pitchers. His record of three homers in yesterday's game equals that of two years ago when he also got three in one game against the Cards.

HIBBS AND FRANKIAN

THERE is much ado being made in the North about a conflict Saturday between Ike Frankian, the crack St. Mary's end, and Capt. Jesse Hibbs of the Trojans.

Mr. Frankian spilled California men all over the place, 'tis said, and it is proposed to pit Mr. Frankian against Mr. Hibbs in personal hand-to-hand conflict.

This sounds like a great idea, but Mr. Frankian is bound to experience a great deal of difficulty in keeping up with Mr. Hibbs.

The Trojan skipper, for example, played no less than three different positions against Oregon State. He started out as left tackle on the defense, right end on the offense, and when Boren, running guard, was injured and left the game he finished up at left end, defensively, and right end offensively.

At this rate Mr. Frankian stands a great chance of being smitten with the blind staggers if he tries to follow Mr. Hibbs in his peregrinations.

DIEGEL ARRIVES

MR. LEO DIEGEL, the temperamental young man who goes simply crazy with the putter when he is "hot," seems finally to have come into his own by winning the National Professional Golfers' championship.

Generally Leo, who used to spend his winters at the Pasadena Golf Club, has one or two great rounds which are ruined for the purposes of medal competition by at least one atrocious one.

He has the shots, and he has been hovering on the brink of greatness for a long time. His decisive wins over Hagen, Sarazen and Espinoza in the final matches last week stamp him as having arrived. No man can beat the "Haig" at match play when he is on his game, as he seemed to be last week, without having the stuff.

THE GREAT COCHET

THE malady of osteomyelitis as developed by Helen Wills will be forgotten in the due course of time but Mons. Henri Cochet's tennis—never.

The great Frenchman, who plays simply wonderful tennis without making a big fuss about it, deliberately made matches out of pushovers at the Los Angeles Tennis Club last week, and then went out to win when he felt like it.

That's the true blue mark of a real champion. An average player never can be sure enough of himself to play that way.

Cochet is steady without being a safety-first player, wonderful without being spectacular and dynamic without being bizarre.

REDBIRD STAR CREDITS YANKS

Bottomley Admits Yanks Are Better Ball Club

Claims Umpire's Decision in Seventh Frame Right

Failure to Hit in Pinches Proves Costly

(Jim Bottomley, first baseman, St. Louis Cardinals, in the following article reviews the last game of the World Series of 1928. His views regarding Umpire Pfirman's decision in the seventh inning are particularly interesting.)

BY JIM BOTTOMLEY

(First baseman St. Louis Cardinals, National League pennant winners. Written exclusively for The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance. Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Oct. 9. (Exclusive)—We have no alibis. We were beaten and beaten decisively. They gave us the worst trimming of the lot in the final game, proving their superiority beyond a doubt.

BUNNY JIM BOTTOMLEY

The Yankees are powerful champions, with as great a batting attack as I've ever seen and good pitchers to go with it. We did our best, but we weren't there. We were in a batting slump in several of the games—that is a part of baseball and no excuses are in order.

PFIRMAN RIGHT

Umpire Pfirman's decision in the seventh inning might have been the turning point of the game, in that it got Sherdel off poise, but it was a just decision. We had agreed before the series not to work quick deliveries by the pitchers. Besides, in today's instance, Umpire Pfirman called time just before Sherdel's pitch to Ruth. Therefore, Pfirman was right in not calling that pitch a strike.

The final game was no different from the first three so far as New York's attack was concerned. Ruth and Gehrig again were dominant, Ruth being the outstanding figure with his three home runs, each of them over the pavilion roof, all hard-hit balls. The Babe's first homer tied up the score in the fourth and his second again tied it up in the seventh.

Following Ruth's homer in the seventh, Gehrig tied one world's series record and broke another on a smash. He, too, hit the ball over the Pavilion. This gave him four homers for the series, equaling Ruth's mark of 1926. It also gave him a total of nine runs driven in for the series, this breaking Bob Meusel's record of eight in the 1923 series.

Ruth also tied his own record of 1926, which, by the way, also was made against us, by hitting three homers in one game.

As to our attack today, it was the same sad story as the second and third games. We had chance after chance to drive in runs, but we could not come through with runners in scoring position.

MEN STRANDED

I thought sure we would hang Hoyt on the ropes early in the game, but we let him weather the storm. We had seven men on the bases in the first three innings, but we scored only one run. We also left two more on base in the sixth and two more in the ninth.

Manager McKechnie shook up our team in an effort to bring us out of our slump. He arranged the batting order so that we had seven left-hand batters against Hoyt.

The changes worked successfully, too, Orsatti and Smith coming through, but unfortunately, our batters down in the middle of the batting order were unable to support our lead-off batters and the boys at the tail-end of the group. In other words, we had strength at the top and bottom, but not in the middle.

We totaled eleven hits off Hoyt, or eight more than we bagged off him in the first game, thus collecting more hits than we had in any single previous game. The Yanks, however, also were at their best. They hit up and down the line, all the starting players taking part in the assault, and amassed fifteen hits.

By beating us, the Yanks gained revenge for the trimming we gave them in 1926. They are a powerful club, no kidding. They are the only team in baseball history to win two successive worlds' series in eight straight games.

Give 'em a hand, boys.

WORLD'S SERIES $80,000 TO SWEETEN UNCLE SAM'S KITTY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—The government expects to collect about $80,000 in taxes from money paid by baseball fans to see the New York Americans win the world's championship. The amount, from preliminary estimates will be the smallest except once, in the last five years. The government tax on the Washington-New York world's series was $108,177; on the Washington-Pittsburgh series, $118,423; St. Louis-New York series, $120,789 and on the Pittsburgh-New York series of last year when only four games were played, the tax was $78,650.

NIXON DRILLS SAGEHENS

Pomona Gridders Go Through Lengthy Workout in Preparation for Arizona Contest

CLAREMONT, Oct. 9. (Exclusive)—Driving his charges overtime, in preparation for the opening game of 1928, scheduled for Saturday with the Arizona Wildcats at Tucson, Coach Eugene W. Nixon gave Pomona's perspiring gridders a tough workout here tonight.

Nixon got the boys out early and rode 'em hard until the shades of night were on Alumni Field and it was growing difficult to see. Signal drill, punctuated by a couple of long scrimmages, formed the major part of tonight's menu.

The Sagehen mentor is making his closing rush of conditioning this week before Pomona officially gets into the fray. A conference game is still more than two weeks off, but Nixon is as anxious to win his two nonconference tilts as any of the others and hence is pushing things as fast as possible to put the squad in top shape.

Minor injuries which have held the team back in scrimmage and general practice for the past week were practically gone tonight. Virgil Russell, Lloyd Miller, Myron Reed, Don Mayes, and practically all of the boys, were back in the line-up. George Gordon, guard, is still on the sidelines with a broken finger, but ought to be in a uniform next week.

Although Earl Merritt's freshmen are perfectly capable of giving the boys a hard afternoon, Nixon preferred a scrimmage of two varsity teams tonight, and that's the way it was. He started Bishop, Dyer, Waterbury, Miller, Russell, Reed and Judy on the first line with Hartman, Williams, Putnam and Murdy in the backfield. That team was opposed by one composed of Inman, McBurney, Mayes, Gregory, Morgan, Morin and Backstrand on the line and Martin, Stancer, Ingram and DeSilva in the back field.

Every play in the repertoire, from punts and passes to straight bucks, was tried by both teams. Nixon will start tapering off tomorrow and wind up practice on Thursday.

OXY STUDENTS TO GO SOUTH

When the S.S. Ruth Alexander pulls out of Los Angeles for San Diego Friday night at 9 o'clock, more than 200 Occidental college students will be on board headed for the southern city for their annual game with the San Diego State College eleven which takes place Saturday afternoon on the Aztec grounds.

The game with the Aztec gridiron warriors marks the first real game of the year for the Tigers. The Black and Orange team emerged victorious in a double header two weeks back, defeating the Santa Ana and Pasadena Junior College teams by comfortable margins. Santa Ana fell at 19-7. Pasadena was a close second victim at 40-0.

Bambino Sets Batting Mark

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9. (AP)—Although Lou Gehrig tied Babe Ruth's record of four home runs in a series, and smashed Bob Meusel's mark by one with nine runs batted in, the 1928 games gave the Bambino plenty of additional laurels to add to his already large store. The great slugger not only tied his own world series mark by smashing out three homers in the final contest today, but also finished with the record-batting average of all time—.625.

The Babe's figure displaces Hank Gowdy's mark of .556 made in the 1914 series of four games. Gehrig came close to Gowdy's percentage, with .545 in the four 1928 contests.

Between them, the Babe and Lou collected sixteen of the thirty-seven Yankee hits and forty-one of the seventy-one total bases. They also scored fourteen of the twenty-seven runs and batted in thirteen of the twenty-five so batted in.

Ruth and Gehrig were the only Yankee regulars to hit above .300 except Cedric Durst, who alternated in center field with Benny Paschal, and who batted only eight times. Durst hit .375.

Will Present Watches to Gridmen

The presentation of a suitably inscribed wrist watch to the most valuable player among the four California teams in the Pacific Coast Conference, the Southern Conference and the Los Angeles City League as an award for especial merit was announced yesterday by officials of the Los Angeles University Club.

Players on the University of Southern California, Stanford, California and U.C.L.A. teams will be considered for the first award; those with Occidental, Pomona, Caltech, Whittier, San Diego State, La Verne and Redlands for the second; and those of L. A. High, Hollywood, Polytechnic, Jefferson, Lincoln and Manual Arts for the third.

According to announcement, the head coach of each institution will submit a list of five men from his own team, whom he believes most eligible for the award at the end of th eseason. Confirmation of these men will be made by the dean of men, to insure that each man has maintained a good scholastic standing.

The University Club then will select three committees of games officials, who have officiated in the contests of the three groups, and these committees will choose their respective winners.

Consideration is to be given to playing ability, co-operation with coaches, co-operation with games officials and sportsmanship.

Coaches Howard Jones of U.S.C., Bill Spaulding, U.C.L.A., Eddie Kienholz, Occidental; Eugene Nixon, Pomona, and several others were present at th eweekly football luncheon at the club yesterday.

HOW PLAYERS DIVIDE MELON

vision clubs in the two leagues. The winning Yankees divide 60 per cent of the contenders' pools, or $176,289.37 and the Cardinals 40 per cent, or $117,526.25.

The Yankees voted to deduct $4500 from their money to reward Eddie Bennett, the mascot; Mrs. Urban Shocker, widow of the former Yankee pitcher, and various secretaries and officials. The rest then was divided into thirty-one shares, with full shares to go to Tom Zachary, and Fred Heimach, who joined the club late in the season, as well as to Wiley Moore, the star pitcher of last season, who quit the club incapacitated three weeks ago.

Miller Huggins, of course, cuts in for a full share, as do the coaches, Charles O'Leary and Arthur Fletcher. The three remaining portions are to be passed out to players not regularly with the club this year, including half a share fore the veteran pitcher, Stanley Coveleskie, released in midseason.

REDLANDS PREPARING FOR CALTECH ELEVEN

REDLANDS, Oct. 9.—The University of Redlands football teams swung into intensive practice for the double-header on Saturday when Caltech frosh and varsity play here. The first game will be at 1 o'clock and two freshman teams will tangle then. The Bulldogs were badly mauled by the Poets last Saturday, but with Jimmy Fox in the game and some chance of Pete Beiden being off the injured list, they are planning on a better showing against Caltech.

POMONA FROSH MEET RIVERSIDE SATURDAY

CLAREMONT, Oct. 9. (Exclusive) Earl Merritt's Pomona frosh gridders are rapidly rounding into shape for the second game of their schedule, the clash with Riverside Junior College at Riverside Saturday. The frosh came through their opening tussle with Fillmore High School practically unscathed and with a world of experience. They ought to give Riverside a tough run, but will have no more than an even break. Fillmore put up a hard battle, losing by a 12-to-0 count to the freshmen.

MOLINA AND GIBBS TO MIX SATURDAY

Art Molina and Jack Gibbs, 124-pounders, have been booked by Carlo Curtis for the semi-wind-up of next Saturday night's fight program at the Main-street Athletic Club. Molina has mopped up most of the local featherweight opposition, while Gibbs rules in the Pacific fleet.

Joe Peregrina and Ted Sluder, light-heavyweights, are Saturday night's headliners, with Ray Rodrigues and Bobby Payne, 118-pounders, in the special event.

LEWIS, PLESTINA SIGN FOR FINISH BOUT BY

The most important wrestling match of the year was landed by Lou Daro, local mat promoter, yesterday when he signed Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's heavyweight mat king, to defend his title in a finish bout at the Olympic next Wednesday night against Marin Plestina, the 240-pound "trust buster."

Lewis, and his manager, Billy Sandow, agreed to the bout when their demand for 45 per cent of the gross receipts that night was met by the promoter. Both Lewis and Sandow turned down the offer made by Plestina that the match be a winner-take-all proposition, Daro stated, and after more than two hours of wrangling, they finally came to terms.

Both the champion and his manager were highly incensed over the action taken by Plestina in forcing them into [illegible] of the "trust [illegible] demanding a [illegible] since he [illegible] in the game to [illegible] pions of the [illegible] Bill Bomb [illegible] he would bar Lewis [illegible] fornia rings [illegible] give Plestina a [illegible]

JOEY MEDILL FAVO

Interest in the Hollywood American Legion stadium boxing show Friday night centers around two main event and Joe Guerrero in the lightweights. Joey Medill in the semiwindup. Medill is a red hot favorite to beat Doc Shell to the decision and Guerrero has the backing of smart boxing men to beat Sammy Offerman of San Francisco.

It is just beginning to dawn on many boxing promoters that Joe Guerrero is of main event caliber. ### SCOTT PROPOSED FOR GENE'S OLD THRONE

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—The British Board of Boxing Control, ruler of Great Britain's fistic system, asked the New York State Athletic Commission today if Gene Tunney really had retired. If he has, the British board respectfully requests that Phil Scott, heavyweight champion of Great Britain, be given a chance to win the title Tunney gave up.

CLISBY WINS OLYMPIC BOUT

Johnson, was able to drag down a decision mainly because he got the range in the ninth and tenth rounds and began pounding the old buck about the head.

John Lester was ready to rest his weary bones on the canvas several times, but finally overcame the urge as Clisby backed away and failed to follow up his advantage. The house numbered few blacks in the meager attendance which was said to be due to the fact that Clisby was knocked out by Long Tom Hawkins in San Bernardino last Thursday.

However, Carnation Lou Daro said he got his money's worth out of the Ramos-Jackson scrap and that he would not insist upon the return of his investment.

The other bouts resulted as follows:

Dynamite Johnson kayoed Leroy Kinney in the fourth round. Kinney, a friendly looking old soul, took eight in the third round, and hit the canvas four times in the fourth canto before Referee Benny Whitman became merciful and stopped the affair.

Clyde Davis and Kenneth Wallace fought four rounds to a draw.

Joe Comeaux knocked out John Henry Christmas, a sad-faced young boy, in the last round of a scheduled four-rounder. Christmas bounced off the floor three times before he decided to stay put.

MATCH PLAY TOURNAMENT SET AT SUNSET FIELDS

Tournament golfers at Sunset Fields have put in a demand for a match play tournament and such an event has been arranged to start with the qualifying round Armistice Day, November 11. All play will be at handicap.

HAGUE WINS MONTECITO PLAY WITH 68

C. W. Hague shot a fine 68 to win the regular Saturday match play against par sweepstakes at the Montecito Country Club last week, according to word from Paul Scott. With a handicap of 2, Hague was 3 up on par. E. Park, 80-11—1 up, was second; E. A. Gilbert, 80-9—even, third, and C. M. McDaniel, 80-9—1 down, fourth.

MRS. HERALD CAPTURES OAKMONT TOURNAMENT

Mrs. George Herald, 97-13—84, won the ladies' weekly low net tournament at the Oakmont Country Club. Mrs. J. C. Renth and Mrs. C. A. Barbour tied for second in Class A with 95-8—87 and 97-10—87, respectively.

Mrs. John Mortenson, 110-30—80 won in Class B with Mrs. J. C. Donnelly, 114-27—87, second.

TROJANS AWAIT GAEL STRUGGLE

knee, but will be in shape for Saturday's game.

Jones spent considerable time polishing up his new offensive formation and found to his satisfaction that Thomas works very nicely in the back position.

Ritchey's ball-carrying feats have inspired Russ Saunders to greater effort. Russ, when at fullback last night, showed the best offensive punch he has displayed all year. Competition is the life of football and right now there seems to be plenty of battling going on among the Trojans, which doesn't make Jones at all mad.

Capt. Hibbs is still navigating with the aid of a cane, while Charley Boren has not yet been around.

Goal kickers spent more than half an hour trying to boot the ball between the uprights, Clif Herd giving the boys expert instruction.

BRUIN SWIMMERS CALLED

Issuing a call for swimmers at the University of California at Los Angeles, Don Parks, assistant swimming coach at U.C.L.A., has set the opening date of the annual swim marathon for the 23rd inst. Organized last year by Coach Parks, the event has become popular on the Bruin campus as an intramural sport.

SOUTHLAND GRIDDERS ON BEAR FROSH ELEVEN

BERKELEY, Oct. 8. (Exclusive)—If Coach Clarence "Brick" Mitchell of the University of California freshman team, produces an undefeated eleven this season he will owe a large vote of thanks to Southern California. The two foremost ground gainers for Mitchell's team last Saturday in the defeat of the St. Mary's frosh were both from the sunburned southland. "Rusty" Gill, fullback, from Santa Monica High School and Ed Griffiths, formerly a Polytechnic High School player in Los Angeles, did most of the damage in behalf of the victors. They were the heart of the California attack. In the line they were abetted by Art Weston, tackle, from Pasadena, while Ed Kirwan, quarterback, from Jefferson High School also did noteworthy work in the backfield.

MEAD ANNEXES FIRST "TIMES" CUP TOURNEY

Walter Mead, with an 83-16-67, was the winner of the Times Golf Association's first cup tournament which was played yesterday at the Montebello Park Golf Club.

FORMER NAVY STAR AFTER SWIM RECORD

Jimmy Cherry, former navy aquatic star, will attempt to break the world's endurance swimming record held by Mrs. Martha Huddleston Thursday afternoon at the Bimini Baths where he will try to swim seventy hours without stopping. Cherry has been training for the swim under the direction of Ted Combs for the past six weeks and declares he is in tiptop shape. Mrs. Huddleston swam sixty hours without stopping in New York recently. This is said to be the longest time any swimmer has remained in water. Cherry won many long-distance swimming races while he was a member of the United States Navy.

PREPS IN PRACTICE GAME

Coach Bill Bates's Lincoln High third string gridders will travel to Fairfax and take on the Colonial varsity footballers in a practice game this afternoon.

KILEY QUITS GRID BERTH

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. (AP)—Roger Kiley, former Notre Dame star, has resigned as head football coach at Loyola University, Chicago, to return to the practice of law.

PRICE ALTERS BEAR LINE-UP

porarily replaced Stan Barr, the tall blond. Barr forged to the front on the strength of his work against Washington in the historic mud battle of last season. He has not committed himself too expertly this year. Ewing is the fastest man on the team. His spring job is to run the century in around 10 seconds for Walter Christie's track team. He is rugged and most willing and Price evidently is watching for his development.

Among the minor casualties is Capt. Irvine Phillips, who is cursing daily a "Charley horse," and Joe Pitto, guard, whose present ineptness is traced to a sore knee. Price isn't hurrying the wounded into recovery this week. He wants all hands on deck for the Trojan conflict.

PAULINO TO MEET ROBERTI THIS MONTH

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Paulino Uzcudun will return to the heavyweight boxing wars at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, the 17th inst., in a ten-round bout with Roberto Roberti of Italy, Humbert J. Fugazy announced today. He added that the winner will meet George Godfrey, negro, in an indoor match this winter.

SAN PEDRO ELEVEN DOWNS NARBONNE, 6-0

The Pirates of San Pedro High defeated Narbonne High's football eleven yesterday, 6-0, in a Class C game played on the San Pedro gridiron. George Koda, flashy Japanese halfback, took the ball over for the Pirates in the third quarter. This is the last practice game for the Harbor team this season.

BEACH CLUB TO PUT ON CLOSING BOXFEST

Hair-trigger featherweights, Red Humphries and Pal Shoaf, each possessing plenty of speed and power, will clash in the eight-round main event at Ocean Park Athletic Club tomorrow evening. Humphries is ruling a slight favorite. The management announces that this will be the final boxing program in the beach arena.

Sluggers are down for the six-round semi-wind-up. They are Herman Bundren and Jimmy Valenti. In the special event Dude Craig takes on Aniceto Palma. Two fours are also carded as follows: P. Mendoza vs. A. N. Bertram at 112 pounds, and Louis Reyes and Melvin Bobo at 135 pounds.

BLEWETT ANNOUNCES SMOKE-EATERS LINE-UP

A probable starting line-up for big eastern games to be played at Omaha Sunday and at the Polo Grounds, New York City, the 21st inst., was announced yesterday by Bill Blewett, coach of the Los Angeles Fire Department gridders, who leave tomorrow on their first eastern invasion.

Blewett's starting forward line will consist of Weise and Royce Wheeler, ends; Frandsen and Harris, tackles; Jack Wheeler and Hasenauer, guards, and Capt. Casey, center. The starting backfield is more of a problem for Blewett as he has any number of good ball carriers among the thirty men who will go east. The starting quartet, however, is very apt to be Dyer, Danks, Tyler and Murwin.

MISS POYTON IN EXHIBITION

Dorothy Poynton, 12-year-old Olympic champion, will give an exhibition of the high and fancy diving which won her first and second places at Amsterdam, at the water carnival to be held in the plunge at the Edgewater Beach Club this evening.

YANKEE HOMERS FINISH SERIES

Hugmen Cop Fourth Straight from St. Louis, 7-3

Bambino Poles Out Trio of Drives for Circuit

Wild Rally in Seventh Sews Title for New York

world's series hitting records, added to his long-range laurels and finished with a batting mark of .625 that eclipses anything previously on record. The highest mark before was .545 made by Sergt. Hank Gowdy in the 1914 series with the Boston Braves.

In the crowning of the Yankees as world's champions for the second successive year, the tremendous hitting feats of Ruth as well as Lou Gehrig, who equaled one of the Babe's own marks by gathering four homers, shared the spotlight with the pitching of Waite Hoyt. The sturdy young right-hander of the Yankees won his second game of the series and his sixth in championship conflict, thereby equaling the record of old Chief Bender of the Athletics for the most triumphs any pitcher has gained in the classic.

HOYT SETTLES DOWN

Hoyt, until the seventh, was hit harder than he had been in the whole first game, when he let the Cardinals down with three hits and beat them, 4 to 1. He was wilder, too, and unsteady as the Yankees gave him poor support, but he grew better as the game went along. Once feeling the reviving influence of the slugging of Ruth and his other mates, Hoyt returned to form and baffled the Cardinals, the only run tallied after the fourth being a gift in the ninth inning.

Hoyt, the young Brooklyn undertaker, had a big hand in burying the last of the Cardinal hopes but the big bats of Ruth and Gehrig were the factors that broke the heart of Sherdel and battered down the last defense of the home club.

Never before has any world's series game witnessed such an orgy of long-range firing as the Babe led. Not only were individual records given a severe hammering but by getting five circuit clouts the Yankees did more than any two clubs, let alone one, has accomplished in the way of home-run hitting in a single series game. The best that had ever been done before was three homers by one and four by two teams.

All told the Yankees collected fifteen safe blows off the pitching of Sherdel and Alexander but they wasted nearly all of them except the homers. In fact, it was a fielders' choice and a sacrifice fly by Combs that produced the only two tallies not accounted for by homers.

The Cardinals, starting out gayly enough, got eleven safe hits off Hoyt, six of them in the first four innings, but they again failed to exhibit anything like a clean-up punch, even with a revised line-up that had young Ernest Orsatti in centerfield for Douthit and Earl Smith behind the plate instead of Jimmy Wilson. These two did their part, getting five hits between them, but Bottomley, Hafey and the rest of the Cardinals sluggers failed to snap out of their slump.

SHERDEL OUT OF LUCK

Sherdel had lost three previous games to the Yankees and there was high hopes that he would break the jinx, for he had pitched good ball in every setback. But the laws of averages failed to work and Willie took it on the chin for the fourth time in two years at the hands of the American League clubbers.

What happened prior to the fatal seventh paled into some insignificance as the big barrage was put over, but it was noteworthy that the Cardinals again failed to take advantage of the openings given them by loopholes in the Yankee defense. The Red Birds got five hits before they were able to score their first run, in the third, on Orsatti's double, a bunt by High that went for a hit and a sacrifice fly by Frisch. They got their next tally in the fourth on a brace of two base errors—a wild throw by Koenig on an attempted double play that let Maranville go to second and another weird toss by Hoyt to center that permitted the Rabbit to romp home.

Up to the seventh the Yankees also were impotent in the pinches. Ruth's homer in the fourth was their only score in the first six innings but they filled the bases once and had runners on first and third, another time without getting results.

After the main firing had ceased the Cardinals put on a mild flurry in the ninth when Martin, pinch-hitting for Smith, who had singled, was permitted to go to second unmolested and scored on an infield out. Orsatti and High followed with successive hits, but Ruth bagged Frisch's foul for the finishing touch.

It was the finale to one of the most one-sided series on record and as big an upset as the dope has ever known. The Cardinals sallied into the battle strong favorites against a Yankee crew that was supposed to be seasick and crippled from a stormy pennant fight. The American Leaguers not only made a decisive clean-up, but did it with two of their best pitchers, Pennock and Moore, out of action. Their regular center fielder, Combs, also was on the bench, and other stars, such as Lazzeri and Ruth, in damaged condition.

There may have been a lot of aches and pains in this Yankee outfit. Their fielding was none of the best. In fact, their defense was rocky from the start, but they more than offset this with the great hitting of Ruth and Gehrig, plus the pitching of Hoyt, Pipgras and Zachary.

These were all great figures in the triumph, but the greatest of them all is Ruth, who limped along to gain, without dispute, the main laurel wreath for the rout of 1928.

DOUBLE-MAIN EVENT CARDED AT HARBOR

A double main event is on tap at Wilmington tonight in which Charley Pinto faces Benny Furrell at the bantam poundage and Fay Kosky, conqueror of Pancho (Kid) Ponce and Baby Sal Sorio, battles Bobby Fernandez. Both bouts are over the ten-round route. Kosky and Fernandez are to scale 120 pounds, with the winner in line for a crack at either Ritchie King or Jimmy Lundy, principals in the feature next week.

The six-round special shows Bud Couglar, Long Beach bantam, facing Johnny Martenez. The opener is between Don Cutter and Jack Morgan, lightweights.

PLAY-BY-PLAY REPORT OF WORLD SERIES FOURTH GAME

FIRST INNING

New York—Paschal out on a foul fly to Smith. Koenig singles to left. Ruth grounds out to Bottomley, who completes a double play, catching Koenig on a quick throw to Maranville.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

St. Louis—Orsatti strikes out. High hits high fly to short left, which Ruth loses in the sun. It goes for a two-bagger. Frisch strikes out. Bottomley takes two strikes and then sets four straight balls. Hafey is out on grounder which Hoyt tosses to Gehrig.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

SECOND INNING

New York—Gehrig walks. Meusel strikes out. Lazzeri out on pop fly to Maranville. Dugan flies to Frisch.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis—Harper grounds out, Lazzeri to Gehrig. Smith hits single through pitcher's box. Maranville up, one ball; one strike. Smith is caught by yards on attempt to steal second. Bengough to Koenig. Maranville gets two-base hit when Meusel sticks out his glove and just touches a fly to right. Sherdel up, one ball; one strike. Sherdel lines out to Gehrig.
No runs, two hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING

New York—Bengough singles against left field fence. Hafey fields it beautifully and holds the Yankee player at first. Hoyt lays a beautiful sacrifice in front of the plate and is out, Smith to Bottomley. Bengough taking second. Paschal is out, High to Bottomley. It looks as if High should have gotten Bengough, but he didn't, and the Yank catcher takes third. Koenig up, Koenig out, Frisch to Bottomley.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

St. Louis—Orsatti hits to center field and by daring base running goes to second. High attempts a sacrifice toward first base. The ball goes to Gehrig off bat and High is safe, his effort going as hit and Orsatti taking third. Frisch flies out to Paschal and Orsatti scores from third on throw-in. Bottomley fouls to Bengough. Hafey gets four balls and walks. Harper strikes out.
One run, two hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING

New York—Ruth drives home run completely over right field grand stand, into seats. Sherdel walks Gehrig. Meusel flies out to Orsatti in left field, center. Lazzeri singles to left field, but Gehrig is held at second. Dugan flies out to Orsatti in left center. Bengough flies out to Hafey in short left.
One run, two hits, no errors.

St. Louis—Ruth gets thunderous applause from bleacherites as he takes his position in left field. Smith sails over Lazzeri's head. Maranville hits to Lazzeri, who catches Smith at second. Sherdel grounds out, Hoyt to Gehrig. Harper popped up to Gehrig in the grandstand when he tries to complete a double play on Maranville, who takes second base. It would have been an easy double play if the throw had been made to third. Hoyt to Paschal and Maranville gets back at second. Maranville moves when Hoyt throws to center field. After being signaled to catch the Rabbit off second, catcher Koenig got Lazzeri is near the bag. Dugan and Gehrig protest a ball called on Orsatti by Pfirman, umpiring at plate. Orsatti strikes out.
One run, one hit, two errors.

FIFTH INNING

New York—Hoyt singles to right field. Paschal singles to center, Hoyt going to second. Both are beautiful hits, well short of the fielders. Koenig flies to Frisch. Ruth grounds out to Bottomley, Hoyt taking third and Paschal second. Gehrig, fielded galore around Sherdel to advise and encourage him. Evidentally they suggest walking Gehrig, because Sherdel throws Columbia Lou four straight balls, filling the bases. Meusel out, Maranville to Frisch.
No runs, two hits, no errors.

St. Louis—High flies out to Paschal. Frisch out, Hoyt to Gehrig. Bottomley strikes out.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING

New York—Lazzeri singles to left. Dugan attempts sacrifice. Ball is too fast for Sherdel and too slow for Frisch, and it goes for a hit, Lazzeri taking second. Bengough attempts sacrifice, but pops up to Bottomley, and both runners are held on their bases. Lazzeri steals third. Dugan holds first. Hoyt out on foul fly to Bottomley. Paschal out on high fly to Orsatti.
No runs, two hits, no errors.

St. Louis—Hafey strikes out on three pitched balls. Harper gets base on balls. Smith flies to Lazzeri. Maranville singles to center, and Harper takes third. Maranville steals second. A hit here means two runs. Hoyt's control is bad, as it has been all afternoon. But he strikes out Sherdel, after the Card had him three and one.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING

New York—Koenig flies out to Maranville. The Yanks pound up. Sherdel tries to sail over third strike on Ruth while umpire had both hands in air. Pfirman rushes to Ruth's aid. Wherein it spoils plate. St. Louis players rush on in vigorous protest. All umpires join in argument. Pfirman stands pat. Then umpires contend they had called time when Sherdel pulled his third strike to Ruth. Sherdel threw three balls to Ruth. The Babe hits next throw clear over right field grandstand for two runs on a crowd home. Gehrig follows Ruth with another homer over right field grandstand. This puts New York one run in lead. Umpires order group of pitchers to ball park to warm up in case Hoyt is hit by Cardinals later. Meusel singles to left field. Sherdel leaves box and Alexander takes his place. Sherdel stopped long enough to step to plate to protest further to Pfirman. Lazzeri hits two-bagger to left center. Orsatti makes desperate effort to get it but fails. Meusel had gone to third, as it looked as if Orsatti might catch the ball. Combs pinch-hit for Bengough and flies to Harper. Lazzeri scores on throw-in. Hoyt out on bunt, Alexander to Bottomley.
Four runs, four hits, no errors.

St. Louis—Robertson goes to third, Durocher to second, and Collins batting for Yanks. Orsatti fouls out to Collins. High flies out to Ruth. Frisch fouls out to Gehrig.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

EIGHTH INNING

New York—Durst goes to bat for Paschal and his home run into right field grand stand, scoring ground to Bottomley. Ruth hits thirty-home run of game over the right field grandstand and is safe, scoring Koenig. Gehrig out, Alexander to Bottomley. Meusel swings hard at three strikes and is out.
Two runs, two hits, no errors.

St. Louis—Durst goes to center field for Yanks. Hoyt strikes out Bottomley for second time in succession. Hafey singles to Koenig, who barely stops the ball. It throws over Gehrig's head, but ball bounces back. Hafey held at first. Harper hits into double play, Koenig to Gehrig.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

NINTH INNING

New York—Durocher flies to Harper. Robertson out, Alexander to Bottomley. Collins hits two-bagger to center. Orsatti loses ball in sun. It should have been easy out. Hoyt flies to Orsatti.
No runs, one hit, no errors.

St. Louis—Smith knocks ball against grandstand wall in right field, Martin runs for Smith and goes to third unnoticed. Maranville flies to Koenig. Holm bats for Alexander. Holm out, Koenig to Gehrig. Martin scoring on play. Orsatti singles over second. High singles to left field, Orsatti going to third. Frisch flies to Ruth, who makes sensational one-hand running catch.
One run, three hits, no errors.

LOUGHRAN ORDERED TO DEFEND CROWN

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, was notified by the New York State Athletic Commission today that he must make immediate plans to defend his title against Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo and Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash. The Philadelphia Adonis will be allowed one or two warm-up fights before he takes on these challengers. The commission ruled that Slattery rates first and Lomski second among the contenderr.

This action was taken when Loughran reached the end of a sixty-day period on the commission's "sick list," a vacation given him when he reported ill for a match with Lomski two months ago.

LOVE PROVES GIRL'S KIDNAPER

Missing Glendale Girl to Become Bride

Robert J. Wilson and Florence Poke

SHE met a sailor and fell in love with him.

And that, according to Miss Florence Poke, 19 years of age, was the reason for her disappearance from the 3rd inst. until yesterday, when police found her and her sailor sweetheart at the marriage license bureau.

While her grandfather, Henry Poke, other relatives and friends and scores of police officers throughout Southern California were searching for her as a supposed victim of kidnapers, Miss Poke said she and a girl friend and her prospective husband were visiting shows and dance halls.

"I had never been to the city more than once or twice before," she said to Captain of Detectives Allen, head of the missing-persons detail, yesterday, "and so when I left my aunt in Glendale that day to go shopping I met a girl friend and we went to see a show. Then we went to a dance hall and I met him. And, gee, well—we were trying to get married when you stopped us."

Miss Poke was found through information given the license bureau by Capt. Allen, who believed she might appear there after his men had vainly searched dance halls, shows, stores, hospitals and numerous other places for trace of her. Her prospective husband gave his name as Robert J. Wilson, 30, of 721 Stanford avenue, and said he was a seaman in the merchant marine.

After being questioned the couple were released. The grandfather stated he will not interfere with their marriage plans, Allen said.

wholesalers, jobbers and retailers recited that they already have gone to considerable lengths to clean up the situation.

Charles Swiggett of the State Board of Pharmacy told the conferees that if wine tonic is truly a pharmaceutical preparation, then its sale should be confined to pharmacies and to purposes for which it legitimately is intended.

About twenty-five persons attended the conference held in the Elks' clubhouse.

FOUR FACE CHARGES IN RUM FIGHT

Pair Accused of Throwing Liquor Out of Speed Boat; Two Others Taken in Raid

As a sequence of the battle between Federal dry agents and asserted rum-runners, during which one man was fatally injured and two others arrested, two complaints were issued yesterday by United States Commissioner Head against four men.

One complaint charges Edgar Holt and A. W. Anderson with throwing overboard from the motor speedboat Giovannidafiesole on the 6th inst. a quantity of liquor to prevent seizure of it by E. J. Ellis, customs inspector. Each of the defendants was arraigned before Commissioner Head yesterday and released on bail of $2000 each.

Later a complaint was issued against George Morris and Ferro Paglial, who were reported to have been arrested at 6369 Ivarene street, Hollywood, by police and Federal agents. It was reported that 2000 cases of liquor were seized and the two were charged with conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act.

Organizations Disapprove Bill to Oust Rodeos

More than twenty large and influential organizations, representing every class of voter in the State, are now on record opposing the anti-rodeo referendum No. 21, according to a report just issued by J. A. McNaughton, executive chairman of the Rodeo Educational Association, 307 Chamber of Commerce Building.

Without exception, each of these organizations, in passing resolutions opposing this proposed measure, has pointed out that the wording of the bill is confusing and misleading. It would lead the reader to believe it is solely an anti-cruelty measure, when in reality it would strike a death blow to most of the exhibitions of all kinds of animals at county fairs, horse shows, fiestas, circuses and in the making of motion pictures as well as at rodeos, McNaughton stated.

Among the organizations on record as opposing the measure are the California Farm Bureau Federation, advisory councils of the California Development Association, California Cattlemen's Association, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, Whittier, Redlands, Laguna Beach, San Clemente, Santa Ana, Beverly Hills, San Diego and Imperial counties, Central Labor body, Allied Printing Trades Council, East Side Organization, Inc., Inter-Parlor Committees of Native Sons and Daughters of Golden West and La Mesa Club.

Court Excuse Provokes Pun

Judge Rosenkrans apologized for the pun, but held that the circumstances justified it.

Before him was Derrick Paine on the application of his wife, Helen Paine, for an increase of the alowance he is paying her for the support of their child pending trial of her divorce suit. She is receiving $35 a month and said it is not enough. Paine admitted earning $250 a month. Mrs. Paine wanted $50 per month for the child.

"Twenty-five dollars a month is enough for any child, regardless of what its father earns," Paine contended.

"Mr. Paine, you give me a pain," Judge Rosenkrans declared. "It is a wretched pun, but no more wretched than your argument. The order will be for $50 a month hereafter."

MEDICAL STUDENTS ELECT CLASS HEADS

University of Southern California school of medicine's first class has elected R. Allen Behrendt as its president. Other officers are George Hewitt, vice-president; Charles J. Clock, secretary, and Leon Z. Wolpe, treasurer. Dean Cutter also announces that new officers have been elected by the Medical Alumni Association of the old S.C. college of medicine, as follows: Dr. E. E. Moody, president; Dr. Leon Godshall, vice-president, and Dr. Edward M. Pallette, chairman of the executive committee. Dr. Pallette is the retiring president.

CUPID BALKS BALM SUIT

Marriage of Principals Leaves Court Free to Dismiss Case

Everybody is happily married now so there will be no lawsuit. William Gutsch has married the former Bertie Randall and Edmund Randall married some one else.

This developed yesterday in Judge Montgomery's court when Randall's alienation suit against Gutsch was called for trial. He wanted damages of $75,000. Attorney S. S. Hahn, attorney for Gutsch, explained the situation to the court, and as Randall did not show up to press his suit it was dismissed.

TARDY PLEA WINS DECREE

On twenty-five different occasions during her married life she prepared dinner for guests and all would sit around waiting for her husband to come home, but he didn't come, Mrs. Grace Seymour told Judge Stutsman yesterday when asking for a divorce from Edward Seymour. It was very embarrassing, Mrs. Seymour said. The decree was granted.

ASSERTED JANITRESS FREED

Judge Stutsman yesterday held that it is cruelty when the owner of a hardware store expects his wife to do all the housework and be janitress of the store at the same time, the ruling given when he granted Mrs. Marie Easter Young a divorce from Sheridan Young. Mrs. Young said she had to cook, take care of the house and be janitress of the store at the same time.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

In honor of her sister, Mrs. Charles Albert Phillips (Anna Marie Nellis) of Seattle, who is her house guest, Mrs. Harmon Davis Ryus is issuing cards of invitation for a luncheon and bridge Thursday afternoon, the 18th inst., at her lovely home, Villa Rosa, 1 Laughlin Park, the card games to be followed at 3 o'clock with a musicale.

Mrs. Phillips has a host of warm friends in Los Angeles and vicinity and comes down every year for a few weeks' visit with her sister and family, and her coming south is always a signal for a round of delightful affairs given in her honor.

Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Ryus are music devotees, and are among the most enthusiastic attendants at all the opera performances, which, by the way, have crowded all other social functions to the background. This is the first year of grand opera when there have been no matinee performances, and while many love the glamour and pomp of the evening, still quite a few find it a hardship not to be able to take advantage of the Saturday and Wednesday afternoon, which also give them a chance for a luncheon beforehand or an elaborate tea afterward.

Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Bainwaring to Henry Stoll was solemnized Friday, the 5th inst., the ceremony taking place in the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, with Rev. Will Betts officiating, in the presence of relatives and a few very close friends only.

The bride was attractive in gown of soft gray with gray hat and white fox furs, and she carried an arm shower of Russell roses and ferns.

Mrs. W. E. Stannard in Alice blue georgette with matching hat and white fox furs assisted as matron of honor, and carried roses and ferns, while Edward Stoll served his brother as best man.

Helen Walker Hamilton presided at the organ and immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Stoll left for a honeymoon to San Francisco, Carmel, Del Monte and other points northward, and after their return will make their home here.

Alumnae Affairs

Alpha Delta Pi Alumnae members in Los Angeles are busy these days with plans for the benefit bridge party which they are giving Saturday afternoon the 20th inst., at the Alpha Psi Chapter house, University of Southern California, 933 West Twenty-eighth street. Miss Pleeta Hodge, 2516 South Mansfield avenue, is chairman of arrangements and reservations, assisted by officers of the Alpha Delta Pi City Club.

Proceeds from the affair will go toward the national endowment fund for the benefit and encouragement of the day nursery sponsored for children of college graduate students and instructors whose parents must work to make a living or whose fathers and mothers still are both in school.

Luncheon Party

Mrs. Seth Whitt (Lillian Teagle) of 2538 Aiken avenue entertained with a charmingly appointed luncheon recently when her guests included Miss Alice K. Parsons, Miss Jeannie W. Dennen, Miss Emmie Parsons, Miss Jennie Winston and Mrs. Arthur J. Donato. Mr. and Mrs. Whitt will be at home to their many friends the third Sunday of each month during the winter.

For Bride-Elect

Miss Dorothy Servis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Servis of South Bronson avenue, is being much entertained before her wedding with Lewis Chandler the 24th inst., the ceremony to take place in the Church of the Messiah, with Rev. Herbert Booth Smith officiating. One of the lovely prenuptial affairs in her honor will be the bridge tea which Miss Frances Ludman is giving at her home in Masselin avenue Saturday afternoon. The hostess is planning to give each guest exquisite pieces of Dresden which she brought home with her from her trip abroad this summer and the color motif will be carried out in the pastel shades.

Both Miss Servis and Miss Ludman are members of the Chi Omega Sorority at University of California at Los Angeles and the guests will include sorority sisters and intimate friends of the bride-elect. Last Saturday afternoon, Miss Margaret Chandler, who will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding ceremony, sister of the bridegroom, gave a beautifully appointed tea and bridge at her home in June street. The color scheme was carried out in autumn flowers and ferns. A dinner dance at the Biltmore will be given tomorrow by Miss Jean Robertson, when Mr. Chandler will share the honors of the evening. Fourteen guests have been bidden.

Chinese Motif

With Chinese week observed at the Pasadena Community Playhouse recently, Mrs. William J. Whyte gave a charmingly appointed luncheon and bridge in the Old World Garden at Mme. Helene's Rose Villa, Flintridge, the Chinese motif being adopted.

The favors were Chinese dolls, copied after the characters at the Playhouse, and African marigolds formed the basis of the floral decorative scheme.

Among the guests were Mrs. D. B. Wright, Mrs. Mary Herrick, Mrs. Frances Wallafe, Mrs. F. W. Hersey, Mrs. Warren Howell, Mrs. C. C. Milham, Mrs. Allan Sharpe, Mrs. F. D. Ansley, Mrs. R. C. Bacon and Mrs. G. P. Ellis, all of Los Angeles.

For New Chapter House

Members of the alumnae of Alpha Phi sorority at University of California at Los Angeles are bending their energies toward increasing the fund for a new chapter house on the campus at the new university at Westwood and to this end they have banded into groups of a dozen each and are giving monthly luncheons and bridge parties, the affairs taking place at the homes of the members.

Miss Helen Katherine Broughall will so be hostess this afternoon at her mother's home, 445 South Berendo street, and has extended invitations to the members of the sections to which she belongs.

Miss Broughall has recently returned from an extended trip through the United States, Canada and over Europe. While in Paris she was the house guest of Baron and Baroness de la Bouglise, old friends of her family.

Visiting Here

Miss Margaret Burdick of Grand Rapids, Mich., is enjoying a delightful visit of a few weeks in Los Angeles, and is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Robert Hillis, and cousin, Mrs. Lloyd L. Carley, at their home, 929 Harcourt avenue.

At Arrowhead

The fondness of Europeans for short late-summer vacations at watering places is being heartily indorsed by local smart folk, at Arrowhead Springs, the famous spa in the San Bernardino foothills.

Among last week's sojourners were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Curtis of Oxford avenue, Mr. and Mrs. J. Atherton of Third avenue, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stansbury of Kenmore avenue, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sperry of Lucerne Boulevard, Mrs. Grace Homsher, Mrs. Ruth Bevis, Mrs. E. M. Akins, Misses Eden Filson and Dora Garibaldi, and Messrs. Ned A. Sparks, F. C. Adams, M. Gellesnoff, John W. Sherman and I. E. Stewart; while from Hollywood during the weed-end were Mr. and Mrs. E. Riveroll, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Barber, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Elliott and Mrs. Harold E. Thomas of Cromwell avenue.

Divas Entertain

Charming in all the appointments and decorations, Mme. Elisabeth Rethberg entertained yesterday afternoon with a tea at the Ambassador, while tomorrow afternoon Mme. Maria Jeritza is giving a luncheon, also at the Ambassador. Both artists are being much entertained by many admirers of the Southland and are accepting as many courtesies as their strenuous work of the grand opera will permit.

BRIDE-ELECT WILL BE HONORED

Troth to Be Followed by Fall Wedding

[Curtis Biltmore studios]

Miss Jane Mann

ONE of the most popular brides-elect of the season is Miss Jane Mann, charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mann of South Plymouth Boulevard, whose engagement to Robert Alston Brant, son of Mrs. Otto Freeman Brant of South Figueroa street, was announced ten days ago.

Although no date is set as yet for the wedding, it will be one of the events of the late fall. Many delightful affairs are being planned in honor of Miss Mann before the wedding date.

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

Breakfast
Liver and Bacon
Corn Muffins Honey
Milk Coffee

Luncheon
Corn Beef Hash and Bananas
Celery and Grape Salad
French Dressing
Amber Pie
Tea

Dinner
Scotch Broth
Pickles
Lamb Chops a La Maintenon
Minced Potatoes
Creamed Onions
Stuffed Prune Salad, Mayonnaise
Strawberry Short Cake
Coffee

CORNBEEF HASH

Chop rather fine quantities of cold cornbeef, free from all fat and gristle and cold-boiled potatoes; the two cupfuls of the mixture add to it one-half of a finely-chopped small onion, one seeded and chopped green pepper, mix all together, add a seasoning of paprika; heat three tablespoonfuls of shortening in a saute pan, turn in the chopped ingredients, and add one-fourth of a cupful of stock or water, stir occasionally, fold over, brown well on both sides, turn onto a hot platter and garnish with baked bananas.

AMBER PIE

One-half a cupful of sugar, one-half a cupful of apricot jam, two tablespoonfuls of flour, two oranges, juice and grated rinds, one-half a cupful of sour cream, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, the yolks of two eggs; mix the sugar and the flour together, add the juice of the oranges and the grated rind, the yolks of the two eggs, beaten until light and creamy, then the butter and sour cream. Lastly add the jam. Place in an unbaked pie shell and bake in a medium oven until the filling is set. Cover with a meringue made with the two egg whites.

LAMB CHOPS A LA MAINTENON

Place a tablespoonful of butter in a saute pan, when melted add one tablespoonful of flour; but do not allow to brown; add four tablespoonfuls of chopped mushrooms, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Moisten with three tablespoonfuls of stock or milk. Mix all together and set aside to cool. Have six French lamb chops, cut one inch thick with a sharp knife, split the chops in two without separating them at the bone. Spread the mushroom mixture between the open chops, press the edges well together, and broil for eight minutes, browning well on both sides. Serve with ripe olives.

STUFFED PRUNE SALAD

Cream one small Neufchatel cheese with two tablespoonfuls of peanut butter, season with a little salt, pit the required amount of large prunes, stuff with the cheese mixture, adding a little cream if too dry. Place the prunes on shredded lettuce, and in the center of the dish place a tablespoonful of mayonnaise dressing.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped, self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers hints on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of naping, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, sires and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

MANY REASONS FOR LACK OF INTEREST IN FOOD

Mrs. M. W. writes: "My little girl, 3 years of age, has developed the habit of dawdling over her food. She will eat a few bites and then begin to play and when I take the food away she cries for it. She seems very uninterested in her meals and never acts really hungry. I am afraid her weight, which is just right, will suffer if I take her food away at the end of a half hour and would like to know what you think of this policy."

ANSWER

First of all there is some reason why the child is uninterested in her food and this happens most often with the child who is overfed. She may be given three hearty meals, and then fruit, or bread and butter or milk between meals, so that the sharp desire for food is absent when she sits down to eat. Cutting down the number of meals per day from four to three and giving her nothing at all between meals will act as a spur to her appetite.

Some children get into the habit of playing at meal times because they enjoy being coaxed to eat. "Take another bite, darling, of this nice pudding and just one more spoonful of your carrots," says the mother in a wheedling tone, and the child refuses or accepts and tastes all the joys of a master. Food should be served to a child as it is to an adult with the expectation that it will be eaten. If it isn't, it should be taken away when the rest have finished and the dessert brought in. If this is started in the morning, instead of at night, the child won't miss more than two meals without realizing that it is expedient to eat more nimbly or there will be nothing to eat.

Small babies when they first begin to handle a spoon get very tired after a few bites. The mother should not insist on the baby's feeding himself, but quietly help him out. When he has had enough, it should be taken away. Clean plates are a fetish with some mothers. They demand that every spoonful of a specified portion shall be eaten at each meal. No one, least of all a baby, has exactly the same relish for the same amount of food every day and it is better to allow him to eat one spoonful with appetite and then take away the rest and offer something else, than to tease and cajole him into finishing his three tablespoonfuls. This is the very education in playing with unwanted food, and encouraging the child to become a "feeding problem," which later so annoys a mother.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

COURAGE

BY MRS. AGNES LYNE

At a certain summer camp the director observed that the boys were extremely afraid of the leeches at the lake shore. They seemed to feel that nameless horrors were in store for the victim of one of these creatures.

The director proceeded to capture a leech whom he affectionately christened "Morgan," and placing him in a glass tank, called the boys together and asked who would volunteer to give the new pet a meal. Only one boy offered. The others watched, fascinated, while Morgan swam about for a long time before he finally clung to the lad's leg. When it was decided that Morgan had had his dinner, he was plucked off.

The hero of the occasion had shown no particular concern at any point in the affair. The children were thrilled and impressed. Feeding Morgan became one of the things to do. They learned that most leeches were not much interested in small boys' legs. Fear of the creatures no longer interfered with the fun of swimming.

In the same camp the common fear of all snakes was overcome by having about the place a seven-foot gopher snake. He became a well-beloved pet; loved the more because he was at first feared, and found later to be both harmless and interesting. He represented a moral victory. The children learned to react rationally toward snakes, knowing that there are different kinds, good and bad.

The child, seeing others who show fear and who make much of little physical discomforts, learns to be afraid of relatively harmless things in a way that cuts him off from many skills and pleasures. When he has about him adults and playmates who set him a good example, he as readily learns courage.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr Frank McCoy

author of "Feel Your Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

THE DIET FOR DIABETES MELLITUS

In curing this disease it is necessary that the patient conserve the nervous energy, as this disease is often brought on by nervous strains, shocks, worry and overwork. Sleep and periods of rest are essential to a cure.

In spite of the seriousness of this disease, under ordinary methods of treatment I have found that it is easily curable in most cases. Those cases that are most serious have destructive areas in the liver, pancreas or kidney. When diabetes occurs in young people it is usually most serious because it is often accomplished by destructive processes in some of these organs.

The proper way to begin treating diabetes is to use a citrus fruit fast, employing either orange or grapefruit juice, using a glassful every two or three hours. Warm enemas must be used regularly every morning, and a whole body massage should be given occasionally. Vigorous skin friction is advisable after a cold shower bath morning and evening.

The citrus fruit fast should be continued until all traces of sugar have disappeared from the urine and even a few days longer. In severe cases it may be advisable to use shorter periods of fasting at intervals of one or two months. After the fast the diabetic patient may use a well-balanced diet, but he should be careful to avoid the use of starches and sugar for some time to come. This is a model of the diet after the fast that I usually recommend for my patients:

Breakfast—Choice of one kind of protein, such as eggs, nuts or cheese. Only one egg should be used, or two ounces of nuts, or two ounces of cheese. Three or four slices of Melba toast. (This is toast dextrinized completely through, which changes the starch.) A small dish of stewed fruit, such as prunes, figs, raisins, applesauce or baked apples — no sugar being added. Between breakfast and lunch at least one quart of distilled water should be taken.

Lunch—Choice of one or more as desired of the following vegetables: Celery, spinach, small string beans, asparagus, cucumbers, egg plant, small beets and tops, summer squash, small turnips and tops, small carrots and parsnips, lettuce, okra, chayotes, oyster plant (salsify,) mallow, kale, zucchini, parsley, endive, avocado, (alligator pear,) or ripe olives. These may be used both cooked and raw. In the afternoon at least one quart of distilled water should be again used.

Dinner—Choice of one of the following proteins: Beef, mutton, turkey, rabbit, chicken, fish (except salmon,) cottage or cream cheese, gelatin, frog's legs or turtle. Not over a quarter of a pound of meat should be used or a corresponding amount of any of the other proteins. Choice of one or more vegetables from the list used for lunch. No deserts.

This diet should be taken for at least several weeks before any attempt is made to use any of the carbohydrate foods. If sugar does not disappear from the urine with this diet, it is sometimes advisable to take a milk diet for several weeks, but this is usually not necessary, and the diet I have just given will be sufficient to adequately nourish the body without the addition of any other kind of food.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: O. J. writes: "About ten years ago I fell and landed on my knees and since then they give way at times and I almost fall. They make a gritting sound and I wonder if you could tell me something to use as a massage."

Answer: Massage will be of little use to you in correcting the trouble with your knees. Go to a physical-culture instructor and have him give you some exercises which will strengthen your leg muscles. Sometimes the diathermy electrical treatment will help in the correction of such troubles caused by accidents. The action of the diathermy current is to warm the tissues of the knees including the bones. Metabolism in these parts is increased and the effect is far deeper than anything which can be obtained by massage.

Q.: O. B. asks: "Will you please tell me in your health column the cause, symptoms and cure of a floating or wandering kidney?"

A.: The kidneys are not definitely anchored in an exact position, but change their position slightly with the movements of the body. Those who have a general prolapsus of abdominal organs will find that the kidneys are always lower down than is considered normal. There are seldom any definite symptoms except those which go with the general prolapsus. The backache and bearing-down feelings associated with prolapsus are seldom caused by the floating kidneys alone, but come from the general weakness of abdominal and back muscles which allow the prolapsus to exist. The only cure is in raising these organs through strengthening the abdominal and back muscles by taking suitable setting-up exercises.

The LAST WORD

By ALMA WHITAKER

DAUGHTER'S BEAUX

"A disgusted mother" writes that she considers most of them Social Thieves, these young men who come calling on her daughters, accept social invitations galore, but ignore all obligations to reciprocate.

"Most of these young men are just parasites," she says. "My daughters are nice, well-behaved girls, not at all in the flapper class. They receive a great deal of attention. I cannot help noticing that the boys who are 'on their own,' making their own way in the world, living in rooms or boarding houses, are much more scrupulous in paying their social debts.

"It is the young men who live at home, whose parents provide them with money and cars, who accept everything and give nothing. They seem to be raised without any sense of obligation at all. They will dine at our house night after night. Attend parties, play tennis on our courts, but never make the slightest effort to reciprocate in any way.

"Yet this kind of young man does not even make himself agreeable at these social functions. He recognizes no obligation, never dances with any young girl he doesn't happen to admire. He never troubles to pay little polite attentions to my husband or myself. He will fill his case out of my husband's cigar and cigarette box, help himself to refreshments, but cannot even be induced to take anyone home in his car, unless it happens to be some one, in whom he is specially interested. There are altogether too many of these selfish, ill-mannered young men about—and the trouble is that they often come from what should be good homes.

"I don't happen to have any sons, but I am sure I would teach them good social usage if I had. Fancy any decent family bringing a boy up to be a grafter! Of course you may say that we should cease inviting these young men, but they belong in our station of life, form part of our circle, and we should have to start quite a conspicuous and unpleasant crusade to leave them out. Besides, why should they not be compelled to have good manners and fulfill social obligations like the rest of us? If they don't learn this sort of thing in their homes, why are they not given an inkling of it in schools and colleges? What is the matter with our apparently 'nice people' that they are rearing this sort of a young man?"

The mother's problem is difficult in small communities. City people find less difficulty in quietly dropping parasitic young men.

There is an idea still a bit prevalent, that the parents of marriageable daughters should do all the entertaining. But there is another class of people among which the boys seem to be required to shoulder all the entertainment obligations. We receive many complaints from boys who say that girls expect too much, that they are never satisfied to entertain a boy friend at home but always expect to be taken out somewhere. If the boy friend doesn't own a car, they expect to be provided with a taxi. Such boys sigh that it costs a minimum of $6 or $7 to have a "date" with a girl these days. They are lucky to get off with that. Such girls are equally parasitic, equally grafters, equally selfish and ill-mannered.

So in the end the quota of nice boys and nice girls probably evens up pretty well. But it does no harm to air these grievances once in a while.

TRUE BEAUTY OILS

Use them this way to protect your natural charm

If skin is kept naturally lovely, make-up cannot harm. But always remove it carefully each night.

AGE is a challenge to beauty. Today the woman of forty or fifty refuses to let the years conquer her loveliness. She protects her treasured complexion, first index to enduring beauty.

Every night remove all traces of rouge and powder, of dust and grime, of oil secretion and dead skin by massaging the face thoroughly with a profuse lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water.

Its rich unguent lather, composed of the priceless beauty oils Nature supplies in palm and olive trees, gently penetrates the pores and leaves them fine-textured, cleansed and youthful.

Work the lather into the skin with your two hands to massage away any telltale lines of age. Rinse with warm water, then cold. Dry by patting with a soft towel. Occasionally use an ice massage.

In the morning, observe the same treatment; end by applying finishing cream. Then (and then only) are you ready for rouge and powder. If your skin is apt to be dry, an olive oil rub before your soap massage brings grateful results.

But—never omit your Palmolive treatment night and morning. At 10c the cake it offers the world's least expensive beauty recipe. On sale everywhere. Colgate-Palmolive Peet Co., Chicago, Ill.—[Advertisement.

FINAL RITES FOR SEMON CONDUCTED

Private Funeral for Late Film Comedian Held at San Bernardino

Simple and private services read in the chapel of Mountain View Cemetery at San Bernardino yesterday marked the last tribute paid to Larry Semon, screen comedian who died from pneumonia early Monday.

Although a group of friends arrived at the funeral place, only Dorothy Dwan, widow, her mother, Mrs. Nancy Smith, and a friend were present at the services, which were read by a Christian Science reader and an assistant.

After the services and the departure of the widow, a number of friends were permitted to enter the chapel and pay their final respects. Among the number was "Snub" Pollard, a pal of Semon during the early screen days.

The body was cremated and the ashes will be forwarded to Philadelphia for interment in the Semon family plot.

Semon died at the Garcelon ranch, near Victorville, where he had gone several months ago in an attempt to regain health. Pneumonia developed several days ago.

GOLD-NOTES BOOKS FACE LEWIS TRIO

New Evidence Introduced at Trial of Men Charged With Oil Fraud by Mail

For the first time yesterday five books containing records of the so-called "gold notes" of the Lewis Oil Corporation were introduced into evidence in United States District Judge Henning's court during the trial of S. C. Lewis, former head of the company, and once head of the Julian Petroleum Corporation; and Jacob Berman, alias Jack Bennett, and C. O. Steppe. During the introduction of testimony in the trial of the three, who are accused of using the mails to defraud, Assistant United States Attorneys Armstrong and Peterson adduced testimony from Axel Swanson, identifying for the first time many of the records of sales of "gold notes" to investors. Swanson formerly was secretary-treasurer of the company. The records were introduced into evidence over the strenuous objections of Lewis, who is acting as his own attorney.

Lewis objected on the ground that the records were not all those of the company and that he wished all such records to be given in evidence. His objection was overruled. Swanson also identified numerous checks for dividends, paid to Julian company stockholders and drawn on the Lewis company.

While the defense objected, letters written to J. T. Harrison, former Lieutenant-Governor of Mississippi, urging him to invest in the Lewis gold notes, were introduced in evidence. These letters were written by Berman under the name of Bennett. The case will be resumed today.

NOBLES OF ROME AND SPAIN HERE

Count and Countess De Berlanga Much Interested in Film Work

[Illustration on Picture Page]

Count and Countess de Berlanga of Washington, D. C., who arrived at the Ambassador yesterday afternoon, are here to enjoy California sunshine and to see the studios and the moving pictures in the making. They are accompanied by the Count and Countess de Yebes of Rome.

Count de Berlanga is an attache of the Spanish Embassy at Washington, but he also is a novelist and contributor to magazines of Spain, and is especially interested in the making of moving pictures here. English on the paternal side, he writes under the name of Edgar Neville, and is the New York correspondent of La Pantalla, the screen magazine of Spain.

"My wife also is interested in the pictures," he declared yesterday. "She has a reputation for the widest knowledge of screen plays and players in Spain. She is constantly being called up on the telephone to gives the names of a cast, the history of a player, or some information about the moving pictures." Countess de Berlanga is the daughter of the Marquis Amposta, former Spanish Ambassador to Argentina.

Count de Yebes, an architect widely known in Rome, is the son of the former Premier of Spain, chief of the Liberal party. Countess de Yebes is the daughter of the Count de la Vinesa, Spanish Ambassador in Rome. They are here to see the "so much talked-of California," and declared that they were already charmed with Los Angeles.

Friends Rally in Last Tribute to George Beban

Hundreds of friends paid a last tribute to George Beban, actor and screen star, when the funeral services were conducted in the chapel of Reed Brothers, 721 West Washington street, at noon yesterday. The body had lain in state Monday evening and yesterday morning. Dr. John Snape read the service.

The only surviving relatives of the dead actor are his young son, George, a sister, Mrs. Matt Smith, who came on from New York, and a brother, Lewis, of San Francisco. Beban died last Friday as the result of injuries received several days previously when he was thrown from a horse. Cremation followed the services in the chapel.

WOMAN'S DEATH SECRET SOLVED

Body Found Near Mt. Wilson That of Mrs. Howard

She Hid There Once After Baby Smothering

Sister Identifies Clothing and Son's Picture

Mrs. Winnie Howard, who fled to the seclusion of the canyons at the base of Mt. Wilson when she was accused of smothering her infant boy a year ago, returned there to die after she had been paroled to her twin sister, Mrs. Minnie Talbro of Valmont, deputy sheriffs reported yesterday.

The end of Mrs. Howard was officially written into the records of the Sheriff's office yesterday when Mrs. Talbro appeared at the office of Capt. William J. Bright, chief of the homicide detail, and identified clothing found on the body of the woman discovered near Mt. Wilson Sunday as that of her sister.

Mrs. Talbro also identified the picture found in the woman's clothing as that of Mrs. Howard's infant son, who was found smothered to death in a downtown hotel a year ago last August.

The identification was made through William Penprase and G. C. Blasdel, deputy sheriffs assigned to investigate the death of the unidentified woman whose body was found in a secluded spot seven miles up the Mt. Wilson toll road last Sunday.

A chemical analysis of the sediment in a cup found near the woman's body is now being made by County Chemist Abernathy to determine whether or not Mrs. Howard died of exposure or had taken a toxic potion to end her own life.

FUND DRIVE HONORS GO TO WOMEN

Mrs. F. A. Heim Will Have Seat of Honor at Lunch of Loyola Teams Today

Women will have the honor table at the daily report luncheon today of the campaign to raise $4,000,000 for the construction of Loyola University. At the head of the table will be Mrs. F. A. Heim, captain of Team No. 28.

A subscription of $50,000 to the Loyola fund by Joseph Mesmer, capitalist, was announced yesterday by the central committee. Mesmer made his subscription just prior to sailing from Los Angeles on a world tour.

Mrs. Heim's team yesterday turned in a report of $1275 for the day. Her nearest contender is Mrs. J. W. Schafer, who reported $1175.

Division A, commanded by Benno M. Brink, with a report of $12,-605, yesterday took the divisional lead away from John R. Quinn, whose division reported $10,630. Totals for Brink's division are $36,-640 and Quinn's $35,750.

Division B, Mrs. Arthur Wright, yesterday reported $11,705; Division D, William W. Bearman, $10,905; Division E, Friis B. Burns, $10,135, and Division F, P. A. Behanneesy, $6968.

Ray Brotiliet made an address on "pep" in salesmanship. Entertainment was provided by Miss Jane Parks. Former Judge Myers presided.

Crash of Autos Kills Bystander

Crushed beneath an automobile which toppled over in a collision yesterday at Third street and Highland avenue, Charles Cross, 60 years of age, of 1010 South Fedora street, died of his injuries while being taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Cross, who was employed by the city engineering department, was at work in the street when a market truck driven by Victor J. Menard of Third street and La Brea avenue, collided with the automobile of Jaspon W. Dunean of 1195 West Thirty-eighth Place. Dunean's machine was overturned, pinning Cross beneath.

The drivers of both machines, neither of whom was injured, were released after questioning by Wilshire detectives.

Laguna Beach Property Sold

Transfer of title to the property embracing Emerald Bay, immediately adjoining Laguna Beach on the north, has occurred as a result of negotiations which have been under way looking toward extensive improvements for a yacht harbor. The tract has a beach frontage of 4300 feet, 2600 feet of which is sandy with a gradual slope. It was originally a part of the Irvine ranch and has been sold by Judge Gavin Craig, W. T. Craig and Bert Clogston to Charles H. Jonas and J. B. Roof at a price reported to be in excess of $700,000.

According to Walter Gordon Clark's engineering offices preliminary steps have been taken looking to official approval of the construction of two breakwaters, one 842 feet long from the south promontory and one 920 feet long from the north promontory.

AWARDS OF MEDALS FOR VALOR PUT OFF

Recommendation by Chief Davis that medals of valor to be given Detectives B. W. Thomason, Harry Wilde and R. L. Pruett, and Patrolmen W. F. Rasmussen and Claude Whisman, for their work in capturing bandits during the last year was held over one week for consideration by the Police Commission yesterday.

Transportation Arranged for Varsity Games

Eleven special trains and boats for the exclusive accommodations of alumni of the University of California have been chartered from Los Angeles for the three "big" games which the California varsity will play with its rivals this fall. Special low rates, convenient schedules and extraordinary programs aboard the specials are the inducements made to alumni of Los Angeles and Southern California to attend the games by means of these arrangements.

Four of the special trains are planned for the U.S.C. game, which will be played at Berkeley the 20th inst. Two will leave Thursday evening, the 18th inst., and the other two the evening prior to the game. Others have been chartered for the Stanford battle and for the game with the University of Washington at Seattle. It is expected that the largest crowds of alumni from this section will go north for the games this year that ever have represented the southern part of the State.

All reservations are in the hands of the alumni travel service, 301 Stephens Union, Berkeley.

PICNIC ANNOUNCED

The picnic and outing of the Muskingum county (Ohio) Society will be held on Sunday at Section G of Brookside Park at Pasadena.

MINE BUNKO THEFT CASE NEARS JURY

Asserted Swindler Held Over Widow's Funds May Hear Decision Today

Sam Wickersham, asserted swindler charged on three counts with grand theft of $70,000 from Mrs. Frank E. Neumann, elderly widow, and her daughter, Mrs. Frances Fay, may learn his fate today from a jury in Judge Wilson's department of Superior Court.

The case was scheduled to go to the jury yesterday, but unexpected delays resulted in another day being added to the trial. Arguments to the jury will get under way today as soon as the State and defense have concluded with rebuttal witnesses.

Wickersham is asserted to have defrauded Mrs. Neumann and Mrs. Fay out of $40,000 in stock, a trust deed valued at $27,500 and $2500 in currency in connection with the promotion of a so-called gold mine. According to prosecution witnesses, the mine proved to be worthless.

With the conclusion of the present case Wickersham, James McEnigy and John Fisher will face prosecution on additional indictments charging grand theft in connection with their asserted promotions.

Mr. Televox Honor Guest of Film Men

Motion-picture producers and technical experts last night studied the workings of Mr. Televox, the mechanical man, and sought to learn from a demonstration how he might be used profitably in the film industry.

Visiting Los Angeles for the second time under the supervision of Edward Morris of the Westinghouse Electric Company's engineering department, the mechanical man was honor guest of the Academy of Motion Picture Art and Sciences at the Roosevelt last night. He arrived yesterday from San Francisco and will remain here for two weeks, during which time several demonstrations of his ability will be given.

On signals given over the telephone by Morris Televox turned on an electric fan, a searchlight and vacuum cleaner, and for a climax inflated a toy balloon. A large number of mechanical performances can be done by the instrument, Mr. Morris explained, and all that is necessary to alter his "bag of tricks" is to change the wiring.

Televox was invented by R. J. Wensley of the Westinghouse company. Four of the machines have been manufactured and three are in use by industrial companies. The next demonstration will be given Thursday at a luncheon in the Engineers' Club.

REVERSAL IN RULING AIM OF DYERITES

Fight Will be Taken Higher if Appellate Court Refuses to Change Decision

Attorneys for Dr. Frank Dyer, storm center of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church row, within sixty days will apply to the Appellate Court for a reversal of its recent decision sustaining the jurisdiction of Superior Judge Rector to rule adversely to a continuance of Dr. Dyer's pastoral relations, it was announced last night.

If the Appellate Court refuses to change its ruling the case will be appealed to higher courts "until it is established that the church trustees cannot discharge a Congregational minister against the vote of his church," according to Dr. Dyer.

The Appellate Court decision, which deplored the church schism and the necessity for civil court action in a church matter, was given after Justices Works, Thompson and Craig deliberated for several weeks over Dr. Dyer's petition for a writ restraining Judge Rector from ruling against him.

Dr. Dyer also announced last night that his church council met and again reaffirmed its right to adjudicate its own affairs and retain him as pastor.

Gangsters Lean to Shotgun Now; Ordinance Asked

Gunmen and underworld characters of Los Angeles are changing their armament from pistols to sawed-off shotguns, according to report made to the Police Commission yesterday by Commissioner Thorpe, who asked the commission to request the City Council for an ordinance prohibiting the carrying of loaded guns of any kind in automobiles in the city.

Thorpe stated he obtained his information from Chief of Detectives Cline, whom he said reported to him that a surprising number of sawed-off shotguns were being found in the cars of underworld characters picked up by the police in Los Angeles.

President Schweitzer directed Commissioner Thorpe to get together with Chief Davis and Capt. Cline for an investigation of the situation and to make a report at the next meeting of the commission.

RABBI MAGNIN TO SPEAK

Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, grand president of district No. 4, I.O.B.B., left yesterday for El Paso to act as guest speaker for the three-day celebration, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, of the thirtieth anniversary of Temple Mt. Sinai, of which Rabbi Martin Zielonka is the spiritual head. Rabbi Magnin also will visit the Phoenix and Tucson B'nai B'rith lodges.

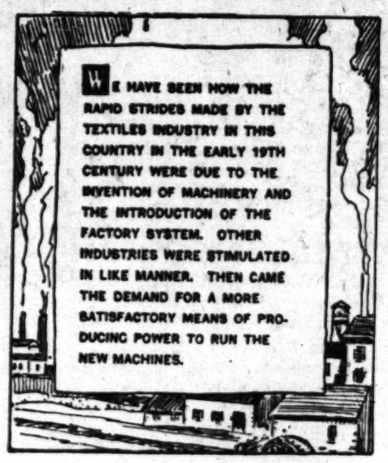
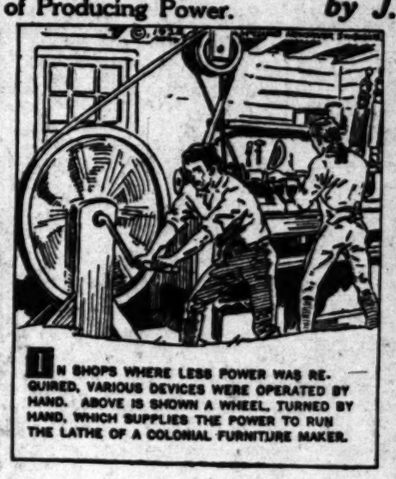
HIGH LIGHTS IN HISTORY 1155 The Story of American Industry. Early Methods of Producing Power. by J. CARROLL MANSF



WE HAVE SEEN HOW THE RAPID STRIDES MADE BY THE TEXTILES INDUSTRY IN THIS COUNTRY IN THE EARLY 19TH CENTURY WERE DUE TO THE INVENTION OF MACHINERY AND THE INTRODUCTION OF THE FACTORY SYSTEM. OTHER INDUSTRIES WERE STIMULATED IN LIKE MANNER. THEN CAME THE DEMAND FOR A MORE SATISFACTORY MEANS OF PRODUCING POWER TO RUN THE NEW MACHINES.

AT FIRST THE OLD METHODS OF PRODUCING POWER WERE USED TO RUN THE MACHINES. IN SOME FACTORIES TURNPOSTS AND TREADMILLS, TURNED BY HORSES AND GEARED TO THE SHAFTS OF THE MACHINES BY BELTS AND COGWHEELS, WERE EMPLOYED.



IN SHOPS WHERE LESS POWER WAS REQUIRED, VARIOUS DEVICES WERE OPERATED BY HAND. ABOVE IS SHOWN A WHEEL, TURNED BY HAND, WHICH SUPPLIES THE POWER TO RUN THE LATHE OF A COLONIAL FURNITURE MAKER.

FALLING OR SWIFTLY-FLOWING WATER WAS EXTENSIVELY USED AS A SOURCE OF POWER. THERE WERE DIFFERENT TYPES OF WATER WHEELS; THE "OVERSHOT", THE "UNDERSHOT", THE "FLOAT", THE "BREAST", AND IN TIME THE STEAM ENGINE TOOK THE PLACE OF THESE CLUMSY CONTRIVANCES.

NEW CHAPTER IN BOY HOAX

Police Commission to Investigate Incarceration of Mrs. Collins in Psychopathic Ward

Four matters referred by the county grand jury to the Police Commission for investigation were taken up yesterday by the commissioners as a committee of the whole, with the result that the circumstances surrounding the incarceration of Mrs. Christine Collins in the psychopathic ward of the County Hospital will be aired next Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

At that time Detective Captain J. J. Jones, asserted to have made the complaint against Mrs. Collins because she refused to accept young Hutchins, an impostor, as her missing son, will be requested to give his story. Mrs. Christine Collins, Dr. E. H. Steele, resident physician at the County Hospital, and Mrs. Katherine Ostrander, matron of Juvenile Hall, suggested by the grand jury as witness in the case, and others will be heard by the commission.

The committee of the whole met immediately after adjournment of the regular meeting and considered the Collins investigation first. In the meantime the commissioners will investigate the three other matters presented by the grand jury and report at next Tuesday's meeting.

These subjects include prohibiting bail-bond brokers from transacting business inside of any Los Angeles jails, physical examination and retention of reports on all prisoners before being taken from and after being returned to cells for interrogation by the police, and investigation of the past record of the proprietor of the Venice Ship Cafe, where the Albert Marco shootings occurred recently.

In referring the four subjects to the committee of the whole, the commissioners expressed the view that they all are in favor of going into each matter thoroughly, as suggested by the grand jury. Commissioner Thorpe voiced this view and was seconded by the other commissioners.

for the chairman to restore order, and, almost in despair, he asked the Christian Scientist present who was acting as chaplain to invoke the divine blessing. Stepping to the front of the rostrum he raised his hands and requested all to arise and unite in a few moments of silent prayer, to be followed by the audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison. In an instant you could have heard a pin drop the peace and quiet were so marked during the silent prayer, and then followed the reverent, audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer, all present responding in perfect unison. The inspiration and confidence that came to those leaders were beautiful to behold. Several expressed themselves as impressed with the thought of its being the most effectual prayer of the convention.

SOON NOMINATE

"A minister in the audience said it seemed as though the gates of heaven had opened to receive that vast audience into the presence of the Almighty. It is needless to say that the convention quietly and quickly resumed deliberations and soon nominated a candidate for Vice-President. The effects of this experience were far-reaching, as reports show that large assemblies in other cities, listening in on the radio, stood in silence during the silent prayer, and many participated in the audible repetition. It was an experience never to be forgotten, for it again proved the power of true prayer, fulfilling the promise of Scripture so beautifully set forth in the fifteenth chapter of John, seventh verse: 'If ye abide in me and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you.'

"Friends, Christian Science shows that scriptural promises were ample and far reaching and were not made for a limited time only, as is sometimes believed, but for all time. It also shows that these promises are not a hollow mockery, but are based on absolute spiritual law and power, available to every phase of daily experience. Christian Science teaches the science of Christianity or the Christ, truth, which heals and saves. It breaks the day dream of life and sensation in matter. It declares God aright and furnishes a key to the Scriptures which dispels mystery and makes plain the word of God to man. It reveals the only true God who is love, unchangeable, ever-present and impartial, whom to know aright brings permanent peace and happiness."

BIRD LECTURES OPEN MONDAY

The California Audubon Society will open its series of evening lectures in the lecture room of the Los Angeles Public Library Monday at 7:30 p.m. A. B. Maescher will show motion pictures of his trip through Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado, and speak on the birds seen. President Mrs. William Myers and Miss Mary Mann Miller also will tell their summer experiences with birds.

JERSEY FOLKS PLAN RALLY

Jersey folks are invited to the opening fall rally in Walker Auditorium, 730 South Grand avenue next Tuesday evening. There will be community singing and dancing.

COUNTY TOTES FAIR WITH CITY

Rural Districts Hold Up End on Joint Improvements

Supervisor Shows $3,000,000 Spent in Five Years

Bridges, Boulevards, Streets and Viaducts Shared

Answering scores of questions as to the amount of money from county tax funds that has been appropriated toward improvement work in the city of Los Angeles, Supervisor Bean yesterday issued a statement that almost $3,000,000 had been devoted to this work within the past five years.

The figures, prepared by the auditor of the county's construction department, do not include approximately $1,000,000 appropriated during the past year for the construction of city bridges.

The report further shows that at present there still is available a balance of $1,313,000 to be appropriated toward the completion of city improvement projects.

Outstanding among the city improvement projects toward which county funds have been appropriated are Glendale-Hyperion viaduct, $680,000; San Fernando Boulevard improvement, $100,000; San Fernando - Chatsworth - Owensmouth development, $150,000; Cahuenga avenue and boulevard, $510,000; Fletcher avenue bridge, $175,000, and Glendale Boulevard, $125,000.

Among other improvement items out of the sixty-four toward which county funds have been appropriated, Supervisor Been pointed out the following: Adams street, $50,000; Santa Monica Boulevard, $82,000; First street (Alameda street,) $65,000; Sherman avenue, $70,000; Pico Boulevard, $20,000; Los Feliz Boulevard, $51,000; Riverside Drive, $20,000; Van Owen Road, $65,000; Park View, $38,000, and Washington Boulevard and La Brea avenue, $48,000.

Chief Flood Control Engineer Eaton hurried to the scene, but reserved comment until he could investigate the accident. The dam is being built for the county under private contract.

An investigation into the circumstances surrounding the accident will be launched by Coroner Nance at an inquest over the bodies to be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m., at the Custer, Christiansen & Moore undertaking parlors.

It is reported another workman was injured in an accident on the same job last month when a concrete chute fell upon him.

VICE STORY REPUDIATION STARTS QUIZ

Police Commission Wants Source of Statement on City's Immorality

Denial by Chief of Police Davis that he made statements picturing Los Angeles as infested with vice dens was followed yesterday by action of the police commission ordering an investigation to determine the source of such a report.

The police commission's action was taken at the instigation of Mayor Cryer who appeared before the board after the City Council had taken official cognizance of the statement accredited to Chief Davis by two newspapers.

The Chief denied that he had been interviewed by representatives of any publications on the subject of vice conditions here and declared that he "will not slander the city of Los Angeles nor place himself on a par with those individuals or publications that do continually slander the city."

The Mayor stated that although the Council had taken action in the matter without having jurisdiction, the police commission should take the necessary steps to clear up the matter. He declared he is prepared to believe the Chief did not make such statments but that the commission should find out from what source they emanated.

Commissioner Gollum made the motion which was carried, and directed Secretary Jeffers to inquire of the two newspapers the source of their information on which they based the statements credited to the Police Chief.

Osteopathic College Opens Fall Trimester

In opening the fall trimester this week, the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons of Los Angeles entered upon its thirty-third scholastic year. It is the second oldest osteopathic college in the United States, according to President Gerdine.

Two hundred eighty-two students have enrolled in the professional courses and college science departments. Almost every State in the Union and several foreign countries are represented. To the roster of the faculty recently was added Dr. Carl P. McCormell of Chicago, research worker and pathologist.

Beginning this year senior students of the college will serve consecutive periods as sub-internes in Unit No. 2 of the Los Angeles County General Hospital.

PLANS GROW FOR AIRPORT DEDICATION

Santa Maria Anticipates Great Celebration to Open Municipal Field

With G. Allan Hancock, Los Angeles capitalist, as one of the principal backers, preparations now are under way for the official dedication of the new municipal airport of Santa Maria, the 21st inst. According to Jesse H. Chambers, secretary of the Santa Maria Valley Chamber of Commerce, the new air field opening will blaze the trail of what it is hoped in time will develop into a new air route between Los Angeles and Santa Maria Valley and other northern points.

Recognizing Los Angeles as a center of aviation activity and the consequent need of an intermediate airport along the Coast between this city and San Francisco, Santa Marians are enthusiastically behind the project, Mr. Chambers said.

The airport, comprising approximately eighty acres close to the center of the city, was purchased by the city and Santa Barbara county from Mr. Hancock, who in turn leased the site at a nominal figure and agreed to improve it.

Santa Maria expects to be host to 100 planes and 20,000 persons on the dedication date. An invitation to independent flyers to take part has been extended. Prizes will be offered.

Wife Divorces Film Manager

Mrs. Edith Schaar was granted a divorce from Bernard V. Schaar, location manager for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios yesterday by Superior Judge McDaniel.

The wife asserted that her husband seldom came home; that when she remonstrated with him for not leaving her enough money to run the household he told her that because he only saw her on rare occasions he saw no reason why he should support her.

The excuse was not a valid one with the court and Mrs. Schaar was granted a decree

COMPTON BIDS OLD TIMERS

NEWS OF THE CAFES

The "Five Little Sweethearts," led by Margie Crosby, are proving to be a sensation in their nightly antics at Sebastian's New Cotton Club Cafe, Washington Boulevard, Culver City. The five girls are called on to furnish impromptu entertainment between dances besides presenting original acts in the three big revues that are presented nightly. Toe dancing, acrobatic feats, singing and novel dance steps are featured by all five of these girls.

AT MONTMARTRE

With Raquel Torres as the guest of honor, "White Shadows in the South Seas" night will be celebrated in the Montmartre Cafe this evening. This occasion will be a festive one with impromptu entertainment presented by well-known favorites of the screen and stage, it is announced. The Montmartre dancing contest will be held as well. Miss Torres will act as judge and present the cup to the winning couple.

The fourth of a series of fashion pageants will be given by the May Company during the evening.

CHICKEN DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Eads, proprietors of Eads Castle, located in La Brea at Beverly Boulevard, announce that they have added to their menu a special fried chicken dinner served family style. Mr. Eads states that only Rhode Island Red chickens are served.

"All you can eat" is the slogan at Eads Castle, with no additional charges for extra helpings. Children under 8 years of age are served half portions at half price, it is said. A large a la carte menu and three other dinners also are said to be popular. Eads Castle is open all night and is a favorite rendezvous for after-theater crowds who go there for delicious sandwiches and late-hour specials.

CINEMA RENDEZVOUS

Famous in Los Angeles as the rendezvous for cinema stars, Mme. Helene's tea room, opposite the Fox studios on the corner of De Longpre and St. Andrews Place in Hollywood, has become the Mecca for tourists and those interested in moving-picture life. Here the players come in make-up, and one may see fascinating costumes from elaborate evening gowns to rich oriental array. Luncheon, afternoon tea, and dinner are served in Mme. Helene's where the cuisine is justly famous.

COFFEE SHOP OPENS

The recent opening of the new Indio Coffee Shop, located in the Hotel Potter Building in Indio, under the management of John Livacich, of the San Gorgonio Inn in Banning, is announced.

Service will be available until 1 o'clock in the morning in the new coffee shop, which wil leater largely to travelers on the main highway to the Imperial Valley.

ORIENTAL CHORUS

Native, Turkish, Egyptian and other girls of oriental origin are required for the chorus of "Paris to Bagdad, new musical revue now in rehearsal at the Pom Pom, Hollywood. This will be the most elaborate of the revue series at this popular after-theater rendezvous and will succeed "Bal Tabarin," current attraction, next Friday evening.

UNUSUAL BUFFETS

Buffet suppers, replete with tasty viands artistically prepared by Charles Kieffer, new chef de cuisine of the screen colony hostelry, has just become the latest fad of the screen notables and the socially elite in the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, it is reported.

Known for having been chef de cuisine in Delmonico's, the Waldorf and the Grand Hotel, New York City, Kieffer makes a specialty of devising unusual buffets.

ARTILLERY BANQUET

The One Hundred and Forty-third Field Artillery, A Battery, held a banquet last Tuesday noon in Carl Jahnke's Coffee Shop, located in West Ninth street near Broadway. Jahnke states that on the second Tuesday of each month it has been a custom for this group of boys to meet there for luncheon and talk over their many experiences while serving in the artillery.

DINNER POPULAR

Many patrons of the Carthay Tea Room, situated in Carthay Center on Carrillo Drive, were disappointed last Sunday when the establishment completely sold out it's featured turkey dinners early in the evening, so great was the demand. The management announces that an extra large order of turkey will assure their patrons of not being disappointed again and that in the future the Carthay Tea Room will serve the same turkey dinner on Thursday as well as Sunday.

RADIO TO OFFER MUSIC COURSE

Lecturers and Programs Will Be Presented

Students of School Years to Be Taught

Instruction Will Be Given in Two Sections

Musical instruction by radio, consisting of lectures and the presentation of numbers illustrating the points emphasized in the instruction talks, is to be undertaken on the Pacific Coast starting Thursday, the 18th inst. The programs, planned primarily to give students of school age a proper appreciation of music, will be broadcast over the Pacific Coast network of the National Broadcasting Company.

The programs will be broadcast every Thursday morning and evening. The morning lectures will describe the compositions to be played in the evening. The composers will be discussed and the students told in detail, with illustrations by instrumentalists, what the composer is trying a achieve and how he does it. The lectures will be considerably more than descriptive in that the principles and technicalities of music will be fully developed.

The movement has the approval of many educational authorities on the Pacific Coast. The details were worked out with the aid of Samuel J. Hume, director of avocational activities of the California Department of Education.

A course of thirty-six lectures has been developed by Arthur S. Garbett of the National Broadcasting Company, a musical expert of note. It will be divided into six main sections: American music, Austro-German classics, Russian, Scandinavian and Polish music, French and Italian music, operatic influences and romantic Nineteenth Century musical developments. Six lectures will be devoted to each of these major topics.

The entire project is being made possible by the Standard Oil Company, which is substituting the musical course for its regular Sunday-night programs. Instead of playing Sunday evenings the Standard Symphony Orchestra will now play each Thursday evening such pieces as have been selected to illustrate the lectures given in the morning.

ORMAN WILL DISCUSS MOTION-PICTURE ACTING

A radio discussion of motion-picture acting will be offered by Felix Orman from KFI tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. This is the ninth of the weekly radio talks on motion pictures being given by Mr. Orman and the third of a new series explaining how pictures are made.

TENOR DISKAY TO SING AS REPUBLICANS' AIDE

The Republican State Central Committee yesterday announced it has obtained the services of Joseph Diskay, popular tenor, to present two programs over KNX; the first on the 22rd inst., and the second on the 30th inst. They will be broadcast from 9 to 10 p.m. on both of those dates.

VALUE OF LIBRARY SECTION TO BE TOLD

"The Dollar and Cents Value of the Science and Industry Department of the Library to the Community," will be the topic of a talk to be given by Mrs. A. F. Leidendeker, principal of the department, at 2:30 p.m. today.

PRIZE PLAY SPECIALIST

Clara Beranger adapted her third Pulitzer prize play when she wrote the script for the film version of George Kelly's stage success, "Craig's Wife," at the Hillstreet now.

Miss Beranger also wrote the screen stories for "Lulu Bett" and "Icebound."

CLINE DOES ANOTHER

When he finishes cutting "Applesauce," in which Roland Drew and Sally O'Neil are to be featured, Eddie Cline will direct another picture for Tiffany-Stahl. "Squads Right" is the title of the new piece and Dorothy Sebastian, Buster Collier, Eddie Gribbon and Georgie Stone have already been signed for the cast.

DELUGE TO BE SHOWN ON SCREEN

"Noah's Ark" Goes Into Grauman's Chinese; November 1 Set as Date

Selection of the night of November 1, for the world premiere of "Noah's Ark," the Vitaphone super-production, which reportedly has been in preparation three years, by Warner Brothers, at Grauman's Chinese Theater, is announced by Sid Grauman.

Because he regards "Noah's Ark" as the most pretentious production to come out of the studios since the advent of sound and talking films, Grauman is preparing to outdo the brilliance of all past first nights in ushering in the spectacle uniting modern times with biblical history.

In the interval since the task of research work for the production was started more than thirty months ago, a large part of the former Vitagraph thirty-eight-acre studio plant of Warner Brothers has been turned over to the production and during the shooting of the final scenes the entire lot was utilized.

More than 5000 players and a great menagerie of wild and domestic beasts were used in presenting the film story of the Babylonian revels that led up to Noah's covenant and finally precipitated the deluge.

Darryl Francis Zanuck wrote "Noah's Ark," which was produced under the supervision of the author. It is said to be the most ingenious as well as the most elaborate attempt ever made in the films to parallel the modern tale with the past.

The production has an all-star cast, with George O'Brien and Dolores Costello in the leading romantic roles. With the romantic leads, more than a dozen of the principal players enact exactly corresponding roles in the modern and biblical scenes of the production, the characters being the same in ideas, ideals and behavior toward their fellows, although separated by nearly 200 centuries in costume and environment.

Michael Curtis directed "Noah's Ark." The adaptation was made by Anthony Coldeway from Zanuck's original story.

In addition to O'Brien and Miss Costello, the cast of principals includes Noah Beery, Louise Fazenda, Guinn Williams, Paul McAllister, Nigel De Brulier, Anders Randolph, Armand Kaliz, Myrna Loy, William V. Mong, Malcolm Waite, Noble Johnson, Otto Hoffman, Joe Bonomo and others.

Professional Matinee Set

There will be a highly professional atmosphere about today's matinee performance of "Tarnish" at the Hollywood Music Box. Virginia Valli is to entertain the Girls' Club, of which she is a member and which organization is composed of a select coterie of prominent young women of the screen.

In addition, Dixie McCoy, producer of "Tarnish," has invited the casts of "On Approval," from Eddie Horton's Vine Street Theater and "The Best People," from the Hollywood Playhouse.

The "Tarnish" company fairly bristles with screen actors. In the principal roles, besides Miss Valli, are Albert Gran, who is playing the part he created in the New York production; Barton Hepburn, Pauline Garon, Faude Turner Gordon, Pan Bourke, Duane Thompson and Mattie Edwards.

JUNE COLLYER FINISHES

June Collyer has completed her leading role in "Husbands Are Liars" opposite Conrad Nagel and is to take a test immediately for another talkie. Miss Collyer's voice is said to be clear and distinct over the Movietone.

TALMADGE DRAMA TO OPEN SOON

"Woman Disputed," Latest Vehicle of Star, Booked by United Artists

Norma Talmadge in her stellar vehicle, "The Woman Disputed," has been secured by the United Artists' Theater as its next screen attraction, and will commence an indefinite engagement a week from today.

In the film the actress is seen in what is said to be one of her greatest roles as Mary Ann Wagner, a girl of the streets who through a sacrifice is the means of saving a whole army from destruction.

"The Woman Disputed" was co-directed by Henry King and Sam Taylor and is a United Artists' picture. It was adapted by C. Gardner Sullivan from the stage success of the same title by Dennison Clift.

"The Woman Disputed" has its local on the Austro-Prussian border before and during the World War. In the earlier scenes the star is revealed as a flashily-garbed girl whose beauty makes her a conspicuous figure in the night life of an Austrian city. Two men who are sworn friends in their rivalry for her finally become bitter enemies.

The supporting cast of "The Woman Disputed" is headed by Gilbert Roland, the leading man who won success with Miss Talmadge in "Camille" and later again scored heavily opposite her in "The Dove." In this, his most recent role, he is seen as a dashing Austrian army officer.

Other well-known actors in the cast are Arnold Kent, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Michael Vavitch, Boris de Fas and Gladys Brockwell.

"Revenge," Dolores Del Rio's newest stellar vehicle, is at the United Artists' as the current attraction. It is an Edwin Carewe production, based on Konrad Bercovici's gypsy story. LeRoy Mason is seen in the principle male role.

LEE'S PERSONAL TRIUMPH

Rowland V. Lee will be the first director at the Paramount studios in Hollywood to personally direct the talking sequences of his own motion picture. He is at present directing "The Wolf of Wall Street," George Bancroft's current starring vehicle, and upon its completion will film the talking production on the sound stages.

TIBBETT IS OPERA IDOL

Cheers Betoken Welcome of Audience

Favorite Divides Honors With Tokatyan, Cimini

'Jest' Proves a Gala Event of Shrine Season

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

As the embittered, the tortured and the sardonic Neri Chiaramantesi in the musical-dramatic version of "The Jest," Lawrence Tibbett emerged as a popular hero of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association's series of productions at Shrine Auditorium last evening. He enjoyed an even greater triumph than on his first home-coming as an actor-singer last season, and in many ways he gave a finer performance in Umberto Giordano's interpretation of a famous theatrical tragedy.

"The Jest," or as it is called in operatic version, "La Cena Delle Beffe," was a high mark in general appeal for the limited season. Aside from Tibbett, leading honors went to Armand Tokatyan for his splendid singing of the tenor role of Giannetto, and to Pietro Cimini, as conductor.

Altogether it was a favored evening. The production was unusually well staged, and while not all principals in the cast were of equivalent merit, there was sufficient spirit to the entire performance to provide an apex of enjoyment, hardly surpassed even in the Jeritza operas.

A majority of people last year went to hear Tibbett for the first time in "Falstaff," the Verdi opera that enabled him to conquer the audience at the Metropolitan. In this he sang the secondary part of Ford, much to the disappointment of an audience who could not quite see the reason for the sensation it had evoked. That, of course, at the Metropolitan was due perhaps in a degree to a sudden swing of sentiment toward the American singers, and, what is more, to the greatest familiarity of "Falstaff" in New York and the fact that Tibbett gave to the comparatively insignificant part of Ford a forceful importance.

However, it is "The Jest" that is really his opera, as those know who had heard it at a matinee last season, and those who listened to it on its second presentation last night.

Tibbett's enacting of the final scene of madness was unquestionably his supreme moment in the new giving of the opera. With little of actual vocalizing to enhance the victory, he achieved surpassing effect in his acting. Neri, tricked into murdering his own brother, is the fierce fighting lion brought to his knees by virtue of the shattering revelation that he has been caught in the trap he himself expected to spring. Tibbett attained what might be termed a perfect impression of the character transition, both with the sotto voce notes that he sang at this point, and his simulation of the pathetic despondency of approaching madness.

Fine too, of course, is the prior scene where he is taunted by the followers of Giannetto, while a prisoner in the dungeon. It seemed to me that he did this a trifle more vividly last season, but the later episode of madness was greater. All in all he gave a more striking performance because of the handling of this very difficult culmination and his generally vigorous impersonation.

Tokatyan sang brilliantly. It was a noteworthy circumstance that like Tibbett he received cheers for his efforts from the audience. Tibbett virtually tore the house down after the third act, but Tokatyan was a very close second—a double proof of how much of an idol he is becoming, under stress of competition with a singer who is enjoying the approval of his own city. Tokatyan has acquired greater volume in his tones, and their quality is exceptional. Tibbett, I should also remark, is singing more resonantly and richly than a year ago.

One could not rave over the adequacy of Elda Vettori as that very promiscuous operatic lady, Ginevra. Seemingly the attractions of her portrayal were fitful, singing and all duty regarded. I felt, however, that she accomplished the dramatic portion of her work very effectively in the final scene. Vocally she was inclined to be deficient to the extent of singing off key at times. Still she shared very largely in the ovations, the quality of her voice being rather inviting.

Hazel Rhodes in the somewhat important role of Lisabetta fell short of the vocal demands and seemed nervous. She qualified exceptionally in personal attractiveness and gained applause. A very pretty soprano voice was heard during the duo of Laldomine and Fiammetta, and I understand its possessor is Maudeline Smith. Cornelia Black was the other singer. Some very good incidental work was done by Louis d'Angelo, Millo Picco, Ludovico Oliviero and also Vera Tulagin.

Pietro Cimini's careful emphasis on the musical nuances of the score and his many splendid climaxes proved again the spell of his authoritative conducting. It was an excellent demonstration of musicianship on his part, since the inspiration of Giordano's opera is hardly superabundant.

Riff Operetta in Last Month

Lillian Albertson's production of "The Desert Song" is in its forty-second week at the Majestic Theater, and the last month of its record-breaking run here.

MARIAN NIXON'S ROLES

Marian Nixon seems to have shed her old-time characterizations of an unsophisticated maiden to take her place along side the "flappers" of screenland. In her latest vehicles, "Red Lips" and "Geraldine," she enacted a modern girl and now she is taking a test for another.

"JUST SUPPOSE" COMING

With the opening Friday evening of their second season the drama students of the Hollywood Evening High School, Highland and Sunset, announce the production of the three-act comedy drama "Just Suppose" featuring Betty Middleton and Allan Douglas.

Long-Awaited Film Here Tomorrow

Florence Vidor

And a notable cast including Lewis Stone and Neil Hamilton will be seen in support of Emil Jannings in "The Patriot," the Ernst Lubitsch production for Paramount which the Criterion will proffer a day hence.

HOLTZ, BRIAN LEAD ACTS

Lou Holtz, black-face ace of comedy in numerous Broadway revues including the "Scandals" and Donald Brian, matinee idol and star of "No, No, Nanette," "Castles in the Air," and countless other musical comedies, will be the double-headline attraction on the new Orpheum bill starting Sunday.

So that the male stars will not predominate Miss Juliet, the mimic known as "The One Girl Revue," and "Nonetta," the beautiful singing violinist recently starred in "Countess Maritza," will be outstanding features on the same bill. Paul Yocan and his company of dance stars in "Artistic Moments;" Frank Fisher and Eldrie Gilmore in "Man Handling;" Revel Brothers and "Red" and one other Keith-Albee-Orpheum Circuit feature attraction will complete the new bill.

ROGERS SIGNS ANEW WITH LASKY

Dione Ellis Wins Feminine Lead With William Boyd; Gretchen Hartman Comes Back to the Screen; Tiffany-Stahl Signing Important Cast

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

While it is known that two of the other big companies were all ready to spring on him in case Charles Rogers decided to leave Paramount, it is not likely that the young star ever really seriously considered doing so.

At any rate it is all settled now that he won't leave. He signed a new contract yesterday binding him to remain with the organization, according to the announcement of B. P. Schulberg.

Rogers has finished one starring picture, "Varsity," and most of the scenes of his second picture, "Someone to Love," have been completed. The result of his work under the responsibility of stardom is the new contract.

The actor three years ago was an undergraduate at the University of Kansas. Late in 1925 he was admitted to the Paramount Pictures School. He completed his work in that institution and was given the lead in "Fascinating Youth," the graduation picture. Two minor roles followed, and then he was awarded the much-sought lead in "Wings."

Bill Boyd's Leading Lady

Although nearly a dozen of Hollywood's best-known actresses were being considered for the leading feminine role in "The Leathernecks," William Boyd's new Pathe picture, Producer Ralph Block has selected Dione Ellis, a screen newcomer, for the part.

WILLIAM BOYD

Howard Higgin is to direct the picture, and other important members of the cast are Alan Hale, Robert Armstrong and Fred Kohler.

The picture is to be filmed with R.C.A. Photophone talking process, and is scheduled as one of the important pictures on the current Pathe program.

Actress Comes Back

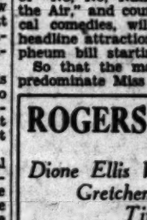
Almost everyone in pictures recalls the furore inspired by William Fox's attempt to launch Gretchen Hartman as "a newly arrived Russian star" under the name of Sonia Markova. This was after the famous Theda Bara exploitation, and was followed shortly by Miss Hartman's marriage to Alan Hale and subsequent retirement to care for her family.



GRETA HARTMAN

Yesterday Henry King succeeded in bringing Mrs. Hale back to the movies for an important role in "She Goes to War," the Rupert Hughes story which King is making for Inspiration Pictures and United Artists. Mrs. Hale will appear under the name of Greta Hartman.

In the cast are Eleanor Boardman, John Holland, Edmund Burns, Alma Rubens, Gertrude Astor and Al St. John.

Estelle Taylor Soon

After all, it is quite possible that Hollywood soon will see Estelle Taylor again. She has just received two offers from here, and may return quicker than she had expected.

In any case Miss Taylor is definitely leaving the cast of Jack Dempsey's starring vehicle, "The Big Fight," in New York, on Saturday night. The reason she assigns is that it is an unsympathetic role, which no actress who hopes to keep her public likes to play. She is to take a short rest in a New York sanatorium, being tired out from hard work and the stress of the crowds and public attention which she has shared with Jack.

Meanwhile it is being found difficult to replace Miss Taylor, inasmuch as two leading ladies well known to Broadway have turned the part down, due, it is related, to the very reason for which Miss Taylor is leaving it, viz., that it is a highly unlikable character.

Tiffany-Stahl's Big Cast

It is all settled now that George Archainbaud will direct "Squad's Right" for Tiffany-Stahl. The story is of the French Foreign Legion, and is an original by Frances Hyland and Wellyn Totman.

Alma Bennett

A notable cast will present the picture, including, in all probability, Alma Bennett in the leading role.

Buster Collier has the leading male role, and important comedy parts will be taken by George Stone and Eddie Gribbon.

Ralph Emerson In It

Ralph Emerson, that very personable young man who is making headway in the talkies, has been signed by Warner Brothers to perform in dialogue sequences for "Hard-boiled Rose," in which Myrna Loy and Gladys Brockwell are featured. Emerson has appeared on the local stage and in various silent photoplays.

RALPH EMERSON

Harmon Weight directed the silent picture, with Max Pollack in charge of the talkie.

ASKIN HERE TO PLAN SOUSA BAND CONCERTS

Harry Askin, a notable figure in the managerial world, is in Los Angeles arranging for the forthcoming series of Sousa's band concerts in November. Mr. Askin is a familiar visitor to this city as he has been a regular contributor to the music seasons of this city for many years. His geniality and wide experience have won him a host of friends here.

Mr. Askin is accompanied by his wife, Rene MacDonald Askin, who will be remembered with pleasure by all those who were in contact with the L. E. Behymer offices during the years when she was associate manager.

FLIGHT SAVES MONEY

Effecting a saving of $6000 in producing costs and making it possible for Noah Beery to fulfill a succeeding engagement, the principals and staff of George Melford's F.B.O. company filming "Love in the Desert" at Yuma, Ariz., have returned to Hollywood by airplane. The Melford-Beery picture is the lead-off special on the F.B.O. program of the season and the economy practiced by moving the company from Yuma to Hollywood by air will permit greater production expenditure in the audible department of the film—the R.C.A. Photophone process.

LONSDALE'S 'APPROVAL' APPROVED

Edward Horton Presents Charming Comedy at Vine Street

BY MARQUIS BUSBY

Frederick Lonsdale is one of those rare playwrights who can plant his various characters around in comfortable arm chairs and cause them to speak so brilliantly that one forgets that nothing happens.

"On Approval," a somewhat naughty comedy of manners, which opened last night at the Vine Street Theater, will be approved, I am sure. Now that Edward Everett Horton has proved conclusively with "Arms and the Man" that the public can actually be persuaded to see Shaw, there is no good reason to suppose that another fine play will fall by the wayside.

It is quite conceivable that some people may not like "On Approval." Nothing really exciting happens. There are no villians, heroes or heroines for that matter. However, if you like dialogue that really scintillates, spiced with the sharp barbs of satire, you should see the play.

Lonsdale, you know, is the quite delightful gentleman who wrote that satirical "Spring Cleaning," and the charming "Aren't We All." His "High Road" is one of the successes of the current New York season. "On Approval" was originally done in Manhattan with Violet Kemole Cooper and Wallace Eddinger. All of this, if perchance you like biography.

Really, Mr. Lonsdale must have had an advance tip on this companionate marriage business which is causing so much disturbance in the more ultra-respectable circles. When Mrs. Wislack, silly name for a pretty woman, has an offer of marriage from a gentleman who has loved her for years she suggests a month in Scotland together. Oh, really it was to be perfectly moral and all of that. Dear me, it would have to be in Scotland. A financially embarrassed Duke and the daughter of a pickle magnate go along. The pickle queen is in love with the Duke and the Duke is utterly infatuated with himself.

In Scotland the foursome discover things about one another that shouldn't be discovered. Mrs. Wislack turns out to be thoroughly unpleasant and the Duke, if possible, is worse. The trusting lover of the woman, and the infatuated girl have a rude awakening before the month runs its course. When the Duke finally asks the pickle queen to be the Duchess she refuses him chiefly because he is the Duke. The Duke and the peppery Mrs. Wislack are finally left alone in the isolated lodge, snowed in for the winter, with the prospect of each finding out how disagreeable the other can be.

Horton, looking awfully ducal or something with a Ronald Coleman moustache, is delightful as the conceited Duke of Bristol. It is a tailored-to-measure role and he makes the best of it. Florence Eldridge, very lovely in a blond wig, is the unpleasant, but charming Mrs. Wislack. She has a lovely voice and a world of poise. Joan Maclean, the pickle queen, has faultless diction and acting ability. She should, however, learn how to walk across a stage. Mitchell Harris is effective as Mrs. Wislack's suitor.

If someone ever hid the cigarettes from the two women there just wouldn't be a performance at all. But still, in times of stress, I suppose they were just being nonchalant.

Stage settings are exquisite. The lounge of the lodge in Scotland evoked audible ohs and ahs from the audience. I hope they learn to set it up more quickly in subsequent performances. It took forty-five minutes last night, and I couldn't have lasted through one more heart-rending ballad from the orchestra.

MAYBE IT'S JUST MME. GLYN'S "IT"

Maria Jeritza

Just what and why is the Jeritza craze?

Of course, the history of opera has been shot through with crazes for certain opera stars.

Brignoli, Campanini, Tamagno, Jean de Reszke and Caruso all provoked them, as did Lind, Patti, Kellogg, Lehmann, Calve, Melba, Eames and Tetrazzini.

But the question just now is not how they did it—but how it is done by Maria Jeritza, now singing in grand opera in Los Angeles.

Is it altogether her soul-stirring voice that causes the "sold right out" sign to be hanging in front of the box office whenever she is billed in any American city?

Do her lustrous eyes and her vitality of performance account for it or have something to do with it?

FOUR SECTS TO ASSIST CRUSADE

Loyalty Movement Answers Foes of Religion

Mass Meetings Already Held to Further Movement

Thousands of Leaders Will Take Active Part

Criticism by foes of religion, to the effect that the denominations spend most of their time quarreling over unessential doctrines, is being answered by Protestant churches of Southern California with four leading denominations co-operating in the church loyalty crusade, the objective of which is to obtain increased church attendance, the addition of more than 100,000 new members, and more liberal financial support for the advancement of Christianity.

REV. GEORGE C. DOWEY

Throughout the Southland mass meetings have been and are now being conducted at various centers in preparation for the crusade proper, which will start at all churches on the 21st inst., continuing each Sunday following until December 9.

"More than 4250 pastors and church officials already have attended preparation meetings for this crusade, which is proving the most amazing movement in church history of the Southland," said Dr. Guy Wadsworth, executive secretary of the Presbyterian board of church extension.

GREAT COMBINATION

"More than 247 individual churches, with a combined membership of 200,000, and covering the area from Pasadena to San Diego, are participating in the campaign. The churches include the fifty-one Methodist churches of the Los Angeles district, twenty Methodist churches of the Pasadena district, forty-four Baptist churches of Los Angeles and all the United Presbyterian churches of the entire region. More than fifty meetings will have been conducted prior to the beginning of the crusade, the 21st inst."

One of the main events scheduled is the men's mass meeting next Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Bible Institute Auditorium, when more than 4000 Baptist and Presbyterian church leaders are expected to be present. Meetings at the First Methodist Church, Pasadena, for Methodists of the Pasadena district have been arranged as follows: Tomorrow, 6:30 p.m., dinner and program for pastors and church officers; the 12th inst., 3 p.m., mass meeting for women; 6:30 p.m., dinner for Sunday-school superintendents and department superintendents; 8 p.m., mass meeting for Sunday-school officers and teachers.

For Methodists of the Los Angeles district, all meetings, excepting the 10th inst., will be conducted at the First Methodist Church, Eighth and Hope streets, as follows: today, 6:30 p.m., First Baptist Church, Young People's leaders' meeting and dinner. Reservations may be made by telephoning WEstmore 1529. The 15th inst., 7:30 p.m., meeting for pastors and church officers, the 16th, 3 p.m., mass meeting for women; 6:30 p.m. dinner for Sunday-school superintendents and department superintendents; 8 p.m., mass meeting for Sunday-school officers and teachers.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEET

At 3 p.m., on the 21st inst., young people of the Presbyterian, Baptist and United Presbyterian churches will meet at Philharmonic Auditorium. On the 28th inst., at 3 p.m., a men's mass meeting will be conducted at Bovard Auditorium.

More than $40,000 pieces of printed matter concerning the crusade have already been sent out from headquarters in the Columbia Building, according to Rev. George G. Dowey, general director, who is assisted by Rev. Vincent D. Beery. Beginning the 20th inst., a four-page newspaper entitled Southern California Church Loyalty Leader, will be sent to the homes of church members. About 40,000 copies will be issued the first week.

Leadership for the crusade is provided in part by the department of building fund campaigns of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions, which organization has directed similar campaigns in the East. Besides Mr. Dowey and Mr. Beery, staff members include Dr. Moses Breese and W. A. Lippman.

PALESTINE HERO WILL VISIT CITY

Viscount Allenby Will Make Short Stay Here on Continental Tour

Gen. Viscount Allenby of Megiddo, K.C.B.; G.C.M.G., Field Marshall of Great Britain and hero of the Mesopotamia-Holy Land campaign in the World War, is scheduled to arrive at Colton on the Southern Pacific train at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from San Antonio, Tex., where he stopped over to attend the American Legion meet.

Lord Allenby will motor to Riverside, where he will stop at the Riverside Inn for dinner and the night, and is expected to motor to Los Angeles Friday morning.

Although both the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the English Speaking Union have wired invitations to Lord Allenby, none had been definitely accepted yesterday.

Lord Allenby is accompanied by Lady Allenby and they will stay at the Ambassador Hotel. Disappointing rumors that they intend leaving for the North on Saturday are afloat. This, however, is not definite.

Soldiers who served with Gen. Allenby on his staff during the famous campaign reside in Los Angeles, notably Victor McLaglen of "What Price Glory" fame, who became Chief of Police in Bagdad.

JAIL LEAVE FOR NORTHCOTT

Suspect Goes Free Short Time Today in Order to Comply With Canadian Legal Quirk

Temporary freedom will be granted Gordon Stewart Northcott, accused boy slayer, today when Canadian authorities, complying with prison laws, release him at the end of his second eight days in Okalla Jail in Vancouver, B. C.

Receipt of a telegram by Quinn and Kelley from Vancouver police caused the Riverside investigators to leave the train on which they are traveling to Calgary at Golden, B. C., last night, dispatches said.

The contents of the message was not divulged by the Riverside officers other than a part referring to newspaper reporters which said: "Under no circumstances must you be accompanied by newspaper men." Another mysterious part of the telegram directed that the two officers "come unarmed."

An intensive search for two suit cases abandoned by Northcott has been conducted in the Golden section, but the officers refused to deny or affirm that recovery of the baggage caused the sudden halt in the train trip. Quinn and Kelley will continue their journey this morning, the dispatches said.

Northcott, who is held awaiting extradition proceedings seeking to return him to Riverside under indictments charging him with the murder of three boys on his Wineville chicken farm, will be taken from his cell, given his baggage and technically will be at liberty, although under close observation by his guards, according to dispatches.

After a short walk Northcott will be rearrested and arraigned and his hearing set for next Wednesday. This move is made to carry out the technicality which requires that he be not held in jail more than eight days without a court hearing.

Officers Quinn and Kelley from Riverside county, directing the action to return Northcott and his mother, Mrs. Louisa Northcott, to California under a joint indictment of murder, are expected to arrive in Calgary late tonight, where Mrs. Northcott is in jail.

Mrs. Northcott will be the first of the pair to face extradition proceedings, according to dispatches, and her hearing has been set for Saturday. The extradition documents are scheduled to reach Calgary first, when the hearing will be started. Anticipating approval of their documents, Quinn and Kelley expect to bring the mother to Vancouver to be held until the proceedings are completed against Northcott some time next week. The Riverside officers will then telegraph Sheriff Sweeters of Riverside county, who, with his wife and the two investigators, will guard the returning prisoners.

Sheriff Sweeters yesterday expected to have Northcott and his mother in the Riverside jail by the 20th inst.

Additional evidence substantiating the charge that the two Winslow lads were visitors at the Northcott ranch and putative victims of the slayer, was obtained yesterday with the identification of a cap found in one of the chicken houses. The cap, according to J. Clark Sellers, criminologist, was purchased in Pomona, home of the two boys, and is very similar to one worn at the time the lads disappeared.

Further indication that Cyrus G. Northcott, father and husband of the two held in Canadian prisons, and himself detained as a material witness in the Riverside jail, is preparing to make a statement on the activities of his son and wife, was apparent to his jailers yesterday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Dy Crevecouer, the senior Northcott has announced his intention to tell his story, but has imposed certain conditions. These conditions are withheld by the Riverside authorities, but they assert that they will be arranged and that the father will make a complete statement within a short time.

The elder Northcott yesterday expressed a desire to talk with Sheriff Sweeters alone, but the Riverside official was in San Diego investigating the possibility that Nicholas Esparanza, 13-year-old murdered youth, may have been one of the asserted victims of young Northcott. Sweeters will talk with his prisoner today, it was indicated last night.

WORKERS TO TELL HARVEST

Missionaries of World Will Gather to Report Stewardship to Women's Society on 23rd Inst.

Thousands of members of religious denominations in the Southland are expected to attend the annual national convention of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, to be conducted at First Methodist Church, Eighth and Hope streets, from the 23rd to the 28th inst., inclusive. The public is invited to all sessions, which will be addressed by 113 missionaries from thirteen foreign lands and by noted bishops and clergymen from various parts of the United States.

General officers of the foreign and home departments will conduct preliminary business meetings, addresses by officers and by Dr. E. E. Helms, introduction of missionaries.
